DOUGLAS MANSOR DUNBAR

This year Douglas Mansor Dunbar is retiring from the Andover Faculty. He came to Andover in 1942, after already having been a teacher for twenty-five years, and has been very active in school affairs ever since. During his career at P. A. Mr. Dunbar has taught Mathematics, German, and Bible, and since 1955 he has been in charge of arranging the classroom schedules. For several years he was also the coach of both the J. V. basketball and the J. V. baseball teams. There are many graduates of Andover, however, who remember Mr. Dunbar best as the housemaster of Williams Hall. Until 1952 he was the man who guided the many Juniors in that dormitory through their first year at Phillips Academy.

WINFIELD MICHAEL SIDES

June, 1958, will mark the beginning of the retirement of Winfield Michael Sides from instructing mathematics at Andover. Mr. Sides graduated from Pennsylvania State College in 1915, planning to become an engineer. During World War I, however, he met an Andover alumnus on a lifeboat of a torpedoed ship, and as a result of this incident he accepted in 1919 the temporary position of counseling students returning to P. A. from the War. He did not long remain a temporary figure at Andover, however, and in 1939 became head of the mathematics department and was awarded a position on the Martha Cochran Foundation.

Mr. Sides has done more than teach during his years on the Hill. He has also been active in such capacities as an official in innumerable athletic contests and as a co-author of an algebra exercise book. He has undoubtedly done more than his share in making and keeping the Andover scholastic standards what they are today. The class of 1958, along with many other graduates of the school, would like to express its appreciation and gratitude for what Mr. Sides has done for Phillips Academy.

MR. FRANK BENTON

Mr. Frank Benton, fondly called by many of his students "Porkissimus Maximus", is retiring this year after teaching here since 1918. Upon his arrival at Andover, Mr. Benton was an instructor in English, but after a very short time he transferred to the Latin Department. For as he has often said, "English is too complicated, whereas Latin is entirely straight-forward."

Mr. Benton is the rare kind of teacher who rejoices in all contact with his students. As a result his classes are always alive and full of fun, sparked by his many witticisms which never fail to keep the students interested. He says that he does not really teach, but only holds classes and hopes that the boys will learn something. He jokingly suggests that with Taylor's photographic memory and Crocker's industry he would really go places.

In short, Mr. Benton is a teacher that one does not find very often; cheerful and enthusiastic, he is always ready to encourage when spirit grows low. He is a wonderful person who has made Latin an alive and interesting language for many.

*Andover's legions her ancient foe defy,
Over the hilltop a war song is ringing.
Shoulder to shoulder we back the fighting crew.
Hail to the Royal Blue!*

In our four years on the Hill, few of Andover's legions of '58 ever learned the opening stanza of the Royal Blue. The chorus, however, was a familiar part of our stay in Andover. We sang it as we dumped Exeter three out of four times in football. We even sang it in defeat after the Red victories during the lean year of '56-'57.

Perhaps the slight difference in accent accounts for the popularity of one verse of the Royal Blue over the other. In its four years at P A., '58 favored the "blue wave rolling" to the "shoulder to shoulder backing" of either fighting crew or Andover tradition. When remembering his years on the Hill, a Senior is very likely to think, not of gentle guidance and counselling, but of a great power play in football. Those of '58 who came as Juniors felt it right away as they carried trunks from Taylor to Paul Revere. The late-comers picked it up as they stood in a breakfast line, alone, because the person next in line didn't know "those preps" and was not going to make too great an effort to meet them. The wave rolled on through the years, however, and created a solid unit.

Ours was a strong class simply because, like all Andover classes, it was built on our separate strengths, not our common weaknesses. To be a functioning part of Andover, '58, took some achievement, athletic, scholastic, or extra-curricular. There have been bitter words written against "the Andover way". The school is "cruel, hard, unfriendly." The "Andover way" won't change, however, and all those who have come here are happy. For to graduate from Andover is an achievement far beyond mere scholastic proficiency. It means that an individual has adjusted to a seemingly hostile environment. Not only "adjusted", in fact, but made a success out of it. Because what is success? An elemental definition might be "the forcing of unfavorable conditions to meet one's needs." And that is what Andover has taught its graduating class to do.

To some degree, the effectiveness of the school may well be judged, not so much by vocal pride, our constant saying of how great we are, but by our complaints, our railing against the rules. When we come to Andover, we are young boys. When we leave, Exeter claims we are big boys, Andover that we are men. The distinction is pointless. Just as it is Andover's job to teach us, so it is our job to grow. Whether we become men or big boys is a matter of temperament. As we grow, we naturally become annoyed with the very rules which have led us along the right direction. By the time he graduates from Andover, is there a Senior who is not completely sure he can live on his own—drink, study, attend classes—without the slightest interference from any authority? Self-confidence is half the battle. The Andover Senior is a very sure individual, and in spite of his best efforts, some of his training cannot be thrown off, so he arrives at college with a real advantage over his Freshman classmates.

Scholastically, of course, he has had a top-notch preparation for college. From the competition of school, he has developed a drive in extra-curricular activities which usually carries him to the front. And, of course, socially, an Andover man has a great advantage . . . he is hungry. Few girls have the strength, moral or physical, to resist the advances of a man who can cry of four years of segregation. And yet, how bad was the segregation? Tea dances every two weeks, proms, five weekends, chorus concerts, plays, and nineteen day parties at the end of each term. All in all, it wasn't too tough to take.

Many of us have just finished our fourth year at Andover. In the long progression from Will Hall to Paul Revere, our parents assure us we have changed mightily. We, of course, feel just the same as always. No one of us can say, "I changed radically in my lower year." We know more. We have developed that certain knack which tells us when we had better study for the next day's test, but it all seems so natural in our minds that we tend not to give Andover her due. Perhaps next year, perhaps in five years, perhaps never, some one of us will be able to say what his stay at Andover has meant to him.

The school, however, does not seek words of thanks for a job well done from the class of '58. For one hundred-eighty years, Andover's job has never been finished. Not when her Seniors graduate in June, not when they enter college the next fall, nor ever. Andover is always with her graduates. They take from the Hill something and it becomes a part of their personalities. It is nothing so formal as a pledge "to do one's best" or to be always high-minded and pure. It is merely an unspoken, unconscious promise to be true to ourselves, to follow the best of our traits as they seem to have been developed at Andover.

The Blue Wave rolls on. This year, the crest is '58. Good-bye, Andover.

Jon Middlebrook
Ed-in-Chief, THE PHILLIPIAN

What is it coming?
 Is it Marx and his train
 Here to free masses
 From their lock and chain?
 Or is it the Riley-mad,
 Crazy, slaving Upper?
 No, children, keep calm.
 It's merely the Senior arriving for supper.

Hey, Prep! Come here!
Quicker, you dog!
 Oops, sir, I'm sorry.
 I didn't know you were a Teaching Fellow, sir. Really, sir.

Back to Benner House,
 Home of food digestible.
 Only to find it filled
 With infra-red ovens detestable.

The surprise in Commons after vacation:
 A new slop system! At last, Salvation!

General Nurse Hirst, hypodermic in hand:
 "Ammo is ready; I give the command."
 With feverish shouting, the boys are rushed through
 To get satisfaction: a shot for the flu!

The anxious days at Fall midterm;
 A third of the school sick with the germ.
 The only good things in the Asian flu
 Were free cuts, when the faculty caught it, too.

Il Duce! Heil Hitler! Joe, Kings of Kings!
 Lead us onward, above, and beyond temporal things.
 Though torn with dissension, let Father and Son,
 Uncle and Grandpa and Nephew be one.
 Swear a blood oath to the Clothing Union!

On Exeter descending.
 Glory defending,
 Without extending,
 Bright '58 portending,
 We crumped 'em.

And the Blue wave rolled onward
 Till it covered the dry land:
 An unruffled, calm surface,
 Save one little green island . . .

The cries of "red meat"
 Squashed th' Exie bleat:
 We beat the Foe effete.

Hid radios chimed,
 But came the time
 When 't' wasn't a crime,
 The sound declined.

Final score: six hits,
Several misses, one fall.
There was more lard airborne
Than eaten, in all.

The dazed student body expired with a sigh —
Snuffles, slurweezles, splurps, and snarbles —
As the little gray man up there on the stage
Was telling us how the platypus warbles.

Morning, of a bleary winter day,
Soaked green eggs, to our dismay.
Arrival at Chapel, always belated.
To hear 'twas the morning that God had created.

Fall proms, Spring proms, Mixers, Tea Dances,
With couples engaged in sundry fashion.
And over them all, not taking chances,
The chaperones reigned, discouraging passion.

A Club most exclusive,
All members hand-picked:
The Phillipian men
Who saw Dean Benedict.

The movies — finest etiquette,
Kept by knife and bayonet.
Soundless films our ears beset;
Visions blocked by silhouette.
Like a mighty leviathan, the famed hockey roof
Struggled to rise, to the students' despair.
But don't let it faze you: be suave and aloof.
So what if it's springtime: at least it got there!

Good old English One —
Careers just begun:
A feast of literary treasures:
Pilgrim's Progress; other pleasures.
But there was even more fuss
With Plato and Polonius
And Oedipus
In th' omnibus.

The College Boards as a preparation for life:
Natatorial endeavor:

- 1) fabaceous flora
- 2) prurigneous posteriora
- 3) dorsiferous papoose
- 4) aperient goose
- 5) swim

Examinations' odium,
And then we're done,
And parents come
To the Commencement podium.
No more Ethan Frome's,
Monstrous, musty tomes,
Or mystic brews of sodium.

CHAPEL SPEAKER

It was September 1954; this was a big day for little Frankie. He walked meekly into Will Hall with the Lavendar and orange tie his classmates at P. S. 69 had given him as a going away present flapping awkwardly in the breeze; Frankie announced to his contemporaries that he had come to Andover for the southern comfort and to learn to become a G-Man. He cut quite a figure in his neat blue blazer, with all the buttons securely buttoned, his best slacks meticulously ironed, and his new Buster Brown Shoes shone with great pride. His mother put the vacuum cleaner back in the car, gave Frankie his bottle of Mother Fletcher's Cod Liver Oil Pills, and her last tearful goodbyes.

Now it was June 1958; Frank ambled casually towards the chapel with the rest of the graduation procession. His open-toed sandals marked him as one of the elite who was always to be found at Cafe Bohemia discussing existentialism over a glass of absinthe during vacations. As he walked up the chapel steps, he looked up and saw his girl, Aida Bun, standing with his parents and smiling at him. He smiled a worldly smile and thought back about his years at Andover.

Frank remembered his unbelievable innocence in his junior year: he thought the Casino was a bingo parlor in Boston. It was in his junior year that he anxiously asked his English teacher when the class was going to read the sublime classic, Tangled Wives, which everyone was talking about. Poor Frank, he flunked English that term. He even remembered his first letter home:

Dear Mom & Dad,

I want to come home. The food is horrible, I want to go home. There is a mean man with a cigarette butt glued to his lips in the Commons who always yells at us.

I want to come home. The fish they serve us on Fridays is sick I don't mind fish when it swims; but when it crawls off your plate, there must be something wrong I want to go home.

With love,

your little son Frankie

But Frank stuck it out and returned for his second year to take part in the abortive raid on Fort Peanut and write sonnets in the library lavatory inbetween cigarettes. He even managed to do some work after the junior-lower snow ball fights every night.

In 1956 Frank returned for his third year just to see Leonard Bernstein wave his baton on the G.W. screen and tell the attentive audience that the first beat was down. G. W. rocked to the frantic beat of the Blue Danube Waltz.

Somehow Frank was unable to remember anything about the Andover-Exeter game that year.

Then it came; Frank's last year in the hallowed Georgian halls of learning. He remembered the great football season: every weekend the stands were filled with athletic supporters wildly cheering the team on. One weekend, many of the alumni returned to the hill to see the football game and add some spirits to old P. A. One of the alumni broke up the Saturday night tea party at the Inn by walking in, in his underwear and demanding a stiff shot of cranberry juice. The party at Alumni House went over with a big bang. The season was topped off by the great 45-6 victory over Exeter; however, the Exeter yo-yo team promised to be a big treat.

This was the year when the faculty just could not understand the seniors; they feared the smokers on Flagstaff Court would slide into hell on their butts. They refused to believe that the potatoes thrown around in the Commons were thought to be Freudian symbols and were purging the minds of the frustrated seniors. But after a while, the faculty had the students eating peanuts from their hands.

The first event of fall term social season was the sock-hop with the fair damsels from the medieval castle down the street. Frank turned in the sweat socks he had been wearing for the past year and, just for this great occasion, got a new pair from Burpy's large stock.

Not long after the sock-hop came the greatest social event of the season; the first fall prom, Black Magic. Naturally Frank invited Aida Bun up to be his consort for this festive affair. Since Aida was a city girl, Frank took her out to the sanctuary to show her the marvels of nature. After a reception at the art galley and a civilized meal at the Commons, they whirled to the sweet music of Harry Marshard in the gym.

But all good things must come to an end, and soon Frank was busy at work again. He and his fellow seniors worked so hard that they often thought their chapel seats were studio couches, and took short snoozes every morning. The seniors had to work extremely hard in order to face the challenge of minute juniors with I.Q.'s of ten figures who were threatening the great superiority of the urbane seniors. These little juniors with laden-down briefcases flitted about discussing Einstein's theory of relativity and the abolition of body contact sports in favor of chess and cerebellum building.

In the fall term the Sour Grapes and the Broughams (so named because their chrome belts were ripped off the side of a new Cadillac) made their debut on the G.W. stage. As they bowed in, ham (what a euphamism), welched rarebit (?), and Salisbury steak bowed out in the Commons. One thing puzzled Frank: what was going to happen to all the sherry (it's cheaper than beer) that was used to make the welch rarebit?

The fall term soon came to a close and Frank went home for the holidays. Forty-two parties later he returned to the rustic, pastoral life at P. A. The Massachusetts weather dulled Frank's mind during the winter term so he existed in a state of suspended animation unable to remember anything that happened that term. He had only hazy vision of some man blaring out directions for college boards or something like that. Frank awoke just in time to take the Bermuda trip with sixteen other seniors. He missed the traditional red brick and ivy of his alma mater, but somehow he was able to get along without tradition during that spring vacation. It was this Bermuda trip that inspired Frank's first literary masterpiece. He and Francoise Sagan collaborated to write, Bermuda, the Coral Reef where Adam stole Eve's Fig Leaf which was already on the way to the presses.

The spring term came; and Frank, having been expected to college settled down to enjoy the comforts and luxuries which Andover had to offer. He busied himself with writing epigrams in all the history books in the library, rewriting the blue (law) book, and starting a chain letter. Frank led the seniors in an attempt to prevent the faculty from blotting out the low neckline in the picture of the class girl for Pot Pourri. The faculty was vainly trying to erase the attribute which nature had endowed her with. Frank took time out from these extra curricular activities to go to the spring prom. Of course, he invited Aida up his last dance at P. A.

Now it was all over; and as Frank thought back about it all, he remembered that there was one thing at Andover that had never changed: the Commons. Every morning the patron saint of the Commons stood there calmly with a benign smile on his face to help all the scholars to start their day right as they desperately tried to cut their morning rations of blow out patches which were masquerading as pancakes. Of course, the food did improve slightly after the Andover Stable left town.

Frank thought of all the courses he had taken during his sojourn at Andover. The two that stuck out most in his mind were English four and American History. It was these two courses that had molded his philosophy and future occupation. He remembered that after reading Oedipus Rex, he had almost broken up with Aida because he thought she looked like his mother. But it was Hemingway who finally opened his eyes to the world. After reading several of his works, he finally became aware of the great truism, "The Lord give us wine and gin to drown our troubles in."

While taking American history, Frank realized the futility of ever trying to become famous. After all, Lincoln is only a tunnel now, Herbert is a vacuum, and Cleopatra is a long black cigar. Yes, Frank had decided on his future vocation; he was going to become an intellectual beachcomber.

Frank thought of all the contributions his classmates had made to Andover: Mac Rotan left a book on how to smoke and be an athlete at the same time, Frank O'reilly left, and the Sour Grapes left the 8'n 1 with a bitter taste in their mouths. What had Frank contributed? He had given a rinestone studded toilet seat and a deodorizer to the dorm bathroom.

Andover certainly had changed since the old days when it used to be a seminary and the only extra curricular activity was building coffins. The social life then consisted of an occasional tea dance with the numerous mummies in the art gallery.

Frank's mother always liked Andover very much; and she was extremely worried about the dearth of trees on the Yale campus. However, she would soon get over this.

UPPER

If one were to think of Andover as a gigantic pop-corn popper into which some one hundred and twenty hard yellow kernels were poured, and from which four years later, they were removed and, with a little salt and lots of butter, served to bloated colleges, the Upper-Middle year would easily represent that excruciating period near the end when even the pot-holder has become red-hot and one must hang on interminably in agony, waiting for that last kernel to pop.

The Junior year is normally devoted to entrenching yourself at Andover, the Lower year in making a place for yourself in the class, the Upper year in making a place for yourself in the school, and the senior year in making a place for yourself among the colleges. Thus the first two are usually harmless enough, the last one serious, but the third one, the infamous Upper-Middle year, is a compromise and consequently neither harmless nor serious. For the first time, the treasured cigarette could be triumphantly borne through the smoke-blackened portals of the Ryley Room. For the first time, with the suavity of a Newport hostess, an Upper-Middler could breach those embarrassing gaps in conversation, when at dinner with his roommate's parents, with a satisfying puff on Sir Herbert Tareyton. For the first time, that awesome brick enclave, the West Quadrangle, could be viewed with the pride of ownership rather than the furtive glance of a besnowballed Rockwellite or the passing glimpse of a cottage-bound Lower. For the first time, the delights of the Odyssey, congruent triangles, the execution of Charles II, Cicero's orations, the relation between distances and illumination in foot-candles, nudes descending staircases, and countless other intellectual gems were ours for the grinding and polishing. With these in mind then, have mercy on us, ye grumbling janitors with breakage bills, all ye weary housemasters with radio demerits and sleepless nights, all ye bitter masters with sickening flunks and 8:12 yawning oral cavities, all ye desperate deans with seven cuts and no sign of slowing up, all ye that travail and are heavy laden — have mercy upon us, pardon and deliver us, we pray thee, into college.

Such might have been thoughts of an Upper-Middler of the class of '59, upon returning from summer vacation. But on a slightly higher plane of intellectual consideration, we must have realized that this year was to be one of the most important in our educational process. With the increasing pressure on college admissions, caused by the war-time baby boom, the Upper year has become the most important as far as scholastic record is concerned. The colleges, in order to study each application thoroughly, must make their decisions earlier and earlier. Thus, only the first term or two of the Senior year can be taken into account by the admissions officials. Failure in the Upper year, then, might well mean a second-choice college for the normal P.A. student; this was the year to work if we ever intended to.

Another responsibility which we had to face was that of school leadership. At Andover, it is traditional that the control of student affairs passes gradually from the Senior class to the Upper class throughout the year. The switch begins with athletic captains and varsity managers, which are chosen at the end of each season. It continues through the Spring Prom committee and Phillipian elections, and finally culminates in the class officer and various club officer elections at the end of the year. Because Andover permits so much freedom, the various student-held posts are numerous, and a class, in order to put competent boys in each, must as a whole take on the responsibility of running the school. It cannot be done by a select group of a dozen or so "big-shots"; many a class in the past have fallen apart because it was only a portion of the class that realized their responsibilities.

Has the class of 1959 met this test and achieved these two goals — scholastic proficiency and school responsibility? Only at the end of our senior year can this question be fully answered. But, in a vain effort to stop in the middle and evaluate progress, I would say that the Upper-Middle class certainly has shown the potential for achieving these. From the beginning of our Andover careers, we have been characteristically more than sufficient in every field. Unfortunately, among these is included that catch-all American word "hacking", and no doubt our record of disciplinary action will bear out this exuberance and slight lack of self-control. These, however, are normal symptoms for a group of some 220 boys. What is more important, the class of 1959 will have to channel these excesses into more profitable fields, and be excessive in high marks or athletic victories, rather than card-playing. It is then and only then that we can meet the two great challenges which confront us. Let us hope that our Upper-Middle year will prove us worthy as a class.

LOWER

The year 1957-1958 was very successful in many ways for the Lower Middle Class. We were considerably strengthened in number by the arrival of seventy-six preps. At first glance, the preps were easily distinguishable from the old boys. Their ties were too straight, shoes were too clean, and their pants had a well-defined crease. We, who were here last year, never let the prep lose sight of his lowly status. This year it was our turn to yell, "Hey Prep!" and we laughed when some new addition to our ranks fell victim to a Senior who had some work to be done.

Perhaps the one thing that our class lacked was unity. Living in the faculty cottages is advantageous to be sure, but the general consensus was that these advantages are outweighed by the disadvantages. The poor Lowers who lived just across from The Coffee Mill and had to start their day with a ten-minute walk to the Commons will attest to this. However, what we lacked in unity we made up for in spirit. The faculty must already be thinking of the damage we may cause next year, with the advent of increased privileges, and are probably plotting new ways to stop us.

Our accomplishments in athletics can be stated in a few words: We were terrific. Alex Browne, Bill Dubocq, Ed Harrison, Fred Kenney, Charlie Kessler, Steve Moffat, Chris Moore, and Jim Turchik all furnished extra strength to the football team. John Bissel was the lone Lower on Varsity Cross-Country, but he represented us well. The J.V. Basketball team was comprised mainly of boys from our class. Elliot Miller was the sole Lower to make Varsity Swimming, and he was superb in several of the meets.

Scholastically we were also very successful. Realizing the importance of good marks, many of us started working up to our capacity for the first time since our arrival here last year. By midterm, many boys were already labeled "grinds." This may or not be a good thing, depending upon which way one looks at it. Most of us did manage to make it past the midterm without much difficulty, and we were already anticipating the Christmas vacation.

In the field of dramatics, our class was very well represented. Jon Ingham and Gary Fuller starred in the fall term French play, and many other lowers have acquired parts in plays that will take place later in the year.

With the progression of the fall term, the food started to lose its taste, and the usual grumblings could be heard in every corner of our dining hall. The food was especially bad after a Biology dissection.

When we started to lose our smiles and care-free walk, anybody could tell at a glance that the final exams were approaching. I doubt if there ever was a more solemn period during the year than this one. The weekend before exams came and a noiseless crowd sat through Bernadine. Monday, and the first final examination was a reality. Much slower to come was the last exam. But, when the joyous moment came, and we had finished it, we left the school in what must have been record time.

As usual, the nineteen days went very quickly, and once again we sadly returned to the Hill. We had the cold, slush, and snow to look forward to. Within a matter of weeks we were readjusted to the life of a prep-school student. We consoled ourselves with the fact that this term was three weeks shorter than the fall term and the spring term is a week shorter than the fall term.

The winter term passed slowly, and when March 14 finally did arrive, most of us were in need of the vacation.

The spring term flew by, and before we were aware of it, we were saying good-bye to Andover.

Throughout the year, you could see many changes occurring in our class: the rapid adjustment of the preps, the increased maturity of the class as more responsibility and privilege were given to us, and the increased school spirit that came after one year at Andover in which we found out how much the school really meant to us.

We dream of the Ryley Room, with several pool and ping-pong tables, and of the first legal puff on a cigarette. The unity we will gain in our move to the West Quad will make us ever a better and more influential class than we are now. And so, the Lower Middle Class of 1957-58 says good-bye but is ready to say hello in our newly acquired position as Upper Middlers.

JUNIOR

On September 17, one hundred and twenty-one average, normal, nondescript looking juniors piled onto the Andover campus. These boys were men of the world. Stuart Wrede was from Finland, Claus Emmer-Szerbesko from Venezuela, and Pete Winship from Australia. However, even for these world-wide travelers came the ageless call of "Hey Prep". Before we knew it, we were staggering across the campus with trunks, boxes, and lamps to big buildings we had never heard of before. Later on, we got to know Mr. Kemper at his house, and then went to our dorms where we started to unpack and meet new friends.

Juniors have entered into many activities all over the campus. We were very active in the band, and without our support that fine organization would probably have collapsed. The chorus had its share of juniors, and their soprano voices gave it a high-fidelity sound. The rifle club was well bolstered up by our winning spirit and uncanny marksmanship. Our electric train fans gave the model railroad club a new lift. Jon Charnis and John Ewell, both in the drama workshop, starred in the Fall Term production of "The Gamblers". The orchestra, like the band, and the stage crew were both filled to the brim with our eager classmates. On a blustery December night, three brave, but undersized Juniors, Wells Walker, Dan Mahoney, and Mike Cohen by name, combated a malicious senior team headed by Pete Bienstock in a varsity debate entitled "There is a Santa Clause". By skill, tact, talent, nerve, and force of numbers, the mighty Junior team overcame the arrogant Seniors by a vast majority in a floor vote.

In organized athletics, we also excelled. The J.V. 4's this season were undefeated, no doubt owing their success to such future P.A. greats as Phil Neumark and John Blitz, who will undoubtedly be on varsity football in years to come. The 5's had a good season, too, losing only their first game in the last twenty seconds. They trampled over Exeter with four first stringers unable to play. The junior soccer team was led by Dave Gibson who undoubtedly will join his brother on varsity next year, Pete Winship who was used to kicking kangaroos back in Australia, and Dave Hackett, holder of the mighty kick. The school really relied on the Junior Class this fall when Steve Hobson, the harrier from Hayward House, churned around the cross country course fast enough to make varsity and earn his letter. Basketball was headed by big Bear Boone, and gave opposing teams lots of trouble. Bernie, alias "Bear", is six feet one, and had no trouble in pulling down rebounds on his way to the varsity. Bernie was also a great pass-catching end for the 4's. The Junior hockey team was well-balanced and burnt up the ice against opposing teams. Squash was a popular sport for Juniors this winter, and in the next three years we will certainly develop a top-notch varsity. Boxing, headed by Tony Acceta, "pride of New York", will also be strong. Our future swimming prospects look hopeful: Mike Mayers, Tom Mayer, and George Hoopis all worked hard striving to earn their way to varsity in the near future. Dan Mahoney proved to be a top driver, and looks like a future threat to the school record.

This year, our first introduction to P.A., was a memorable one. The Exeter game was a huge success from our point of view by being the first time off campus for most of us in addition to the great score. Now the class feels at home. We can sing the "Royal Blue" as well as anyone else. We struggled through Great Ex in English and equations in math. Now that we have settled down and have been thoroughly accustomed to P.A. life, which we think is great under all our complaints. Just remember the Juniors are the outstanding class at P.A. this year. After that the uppers will be the leaders. Three years from now we will follow the excellent example this year's seniors set for us to follow. The cycle will be reversed and then we will be doing the shouting of "Hey Prep".

In the fall term, Mr. Davis and his voice students presented an admirable Sunday afternoon concert of American music. The concert, introduced by the Rev. Norman J. O'Connor, an authority on American music, turned out to be a great success, which the audience found very interesting and entertaining. At the concert, such students as Mark Woodbury, Dixie Carroll, Carl Schieren, John Leonard, Jim Minard, and Pete Maxim sang excellent solos, which brought enthusiastic applause from the large audience. After the solos, a unique quintet of P.A. boys and Abbot girls presented a group of three folk ballads. For the finale, the vocal ensemble of twenty did a magnificent job singing three canons, including one written by Mr. Schneider, dedicated to Mr. Davis and his students.

THE EXETER WEEKEND

Revenge was evident as Friday, November 15, rolled around — the start of the annual clash between the Blue and the Red. On Friday night the traditional rally took place. But this was no ordinary rally — dorm banners were better than ever before, the telegrams which rolled in were more inspiring, the Band was more spirited, and the red Exeter banner was scuffed about more than usual. Then at 12:30 on Saturday, the P.A. student body piled into some twenty odd buses, and the invasion of the land of the Exies began. Upon arriving at Exeter, the spirit mounted as numerous chants sprang up. A new tradition was launched as both schools assembled at Abbot Place to cheer opposing headmasters and schools. The scene then shifted to Plimpton Stadium for the afternoon's work. It was an electrifying game as inspired Andover backs crashed through the Red line for an impressive 45 points. The P.A. line was like a solid wall, holding the Exeter backs to a single touch-down. With the final score being 45-6, the Blue student body went home clutching the "Exonian", which announced the victory, and feeling very satisfied with their team's accomplishment. That night the Victory Rally began with a march from the Old Campus across Main Street and to the Track. Then Captain Bamford, smoking a big victory stogie, lighted the bon-fire, and made a speech which was followed by ones by Head-Coach Sorota, the other coaches, and all the players. An anticipation of a higher score next year was expressed; but until then the Andover victory of 45-6 in the record books will more than suffice.

Article on fall prom

After many years of endeavor, the student government secured permission to hold a fall prom, instead of the customary winter prom. The date was set for the long weekend of November 15-17. Under the chairmanship of Larry Lewis, the Prom Committee did a fine job, with very little difficulty.

The girls started enlivening the campus atmosphere about ten o'clock. After lunch the couples paired off to play ping-pong, to swim, or to play basketball. The weather all afternoon was clear and warm, so some couples preferred merely to stroll around the campus.

Before dinner, the couples proceeded to the Addison Art Gallery to meet Mr. and Mrs. Kemper. There were refreshments and informal dancing until about five o'clock, when the couples split up to dress for the dance. At 6:30 those attending the dance were served a meal at the Commons. About 7:30 the dinner broke up and the couples headed towards the Borden Gymnasium for the prom itself. The Prom Committee had done a fine job of decorating and the Gym was now hardly recognizable, the atmosphere changed from a sweaty muscle-building factory into an eerie and romantic dance floor. Harry Marchard's ten-piece band provided excellent music for the occasion. There was an intermission mid-way through the dance, and the promgoers were entertained by the singing of the "Sourgrapes". Dancing continued until midnight, when the couples departed into a rain storm, which dampened their good spirits.

New twist on a bull session

Oh!

The next morning the couples attended the Prom Church Services at eleven, followed by coffee at Graham House. Most of the girls left after this, and the campus again returned to its barren atmosphere.

The credit for the success of the affair should be given to the Prom Committee. They handled the affair admirably, and made it an enjoyable one for all attending.

STUDENT CONGRESS

Van Amerongen, Wadsworth, Carroll, Kelly

For the first half of the '57-'58 year at Andover, the Students Congress elected Chris Wadsworth president, Lewis van Amerongen vice-president, Dixie Carroll, secretary, and Paul Kelly treasurer. Along with the rest of the Congress, they will be remembered for many things, particularly for several innovations. For the first time at the school, through the voice of the Student Congress, the seniors were allowed radios by the faculty. Another first this year was the Congress' getting Mrs. Cranes' permission for the Abbot girls to sit with P.A. boys at the Saturday night movies after the Mixer. A typing course was requested by some students, but because there wasn't enough interest shown. The Congress compensated for the lack of the course with the sale of self-taught typing books. Perhaps the most remembered assembly of the year will be the one when we were allowed by the Congress, Mr. Leete, and Mr. Kemper to make an innovation in the Commons' menu. The suggested changes varying widely, Mr. Kemper, Mr. Leete, and the Student Congress officers had quite a job replanning the menu.

As in the past few years, the Congress sponsored a highly successful Mixer, this year a Sock-hop because of Mr. Harrison's refinished floors in the gym. Again we all feasted on one of Mr. Leete's chicken dinners, buffet style. An usual, the Daily Bulletin was full of campus cleanup notices, particularly for the seniors who had to keep Flagstaff Court clean. Toward the end of the fall term there was a general plea to return Mr. Leete's silverware to the Commons. Once in the fall term, much to the displeasure of the general student body, the movies were shut off because of too much noise. At the request of several students, the Congress got Benner House to get back the old style hamburgers, ending the short lived era of infra-red hamburgs. As winter came on, the gym was once again opened for the general use of the students during weekend afternoons, and, of course, with Mr. Benedict's assistance, the snow shoveling system was reinstated. On February first, the Congress sponsored a winter tea dance.

This year there were also several changes in the Congress itself, such as making class officers, now elected under a better system, members-at-large for the whole school year, and trying to make sure that all representatives showed up or sent alternates by taking attendance each week. If three weeks were missed by one representative, the Congress suggested the election of a new one by the dorm concerned.

This year, as always, the Blue Key proved itself invaluable to Andover preps. Under Chairman Chris Wadsworth, a large network of outstanding seniors worked together to make life easier for the boys in all the classes. Before the start of school in September, each member of the Blue Key sent welcoming letters to each of his charges. Then, the night after the preps arrived on the campus, meetings were held in each of the members' rooms. Here the general outline of Andover life was given the boys, all questions were answered, and helpful tips were passed on from the seniors. After refreshments and a little bull slinging, the boys left the senior dorms with less of a load on their minds.

Throughout the Fall term, the Blue Key members kept tap on their charges to make sure there were no real problems among them. Several meetings were held to answer any questions the boys might have had with regards to their studies.

This year's Blue Key performed its functions perfectly. Chairman Wadsworth saw that all the members were instructed in what to tell their charges and how to help them with their problems. The members went at their jobs vigorously, and by the mid-term there were no confused and frustrated preps. In its fourth year on the Andover Hill, the Blue Key definitely proved itself one of Andover's most vital organizations. All the preps of the 1957-58 year can thank the team of seniors, led by Chris Wadsworth, for their helpful guidance and aid in adjusting to Andover life and their first year at boarding school.

THE PHILLIPS SOCIETY

SITTING: Bissell, Yu,

STANDING: Burdett, Bienstock.

This year's Phillips Society, under the direction of the Senior Class president, Monty Bissell, had a very active and successful year. At the first meeting in September, a crowd of two hundred students assembled in George Washington Hall. Each of the chairmen of the ten committees that make up the Phillips Society told the group the functions of the Society. Then the students signed up for the committees of their choice, and Mr. Baldwin closed the meeting with a speech stressing the importance of the Phillips Society.

The committee with the most members in it is the Reception Committee, under the direction of Bill Stripling. It is the Reception Committee's duty to show people who wish to see the school around the campus, to answer questions and to point out important campus landmarks. The members show many prospective students and their parents the school, and it is their impression on such visitors that might determine whether or not a boy might want to come to Andover. This is the main function of this committee, which is one of the Phillips Society's most important.

Next in size is the Open Door, run by Sam Friedman. The Open Door is Andover's official welcomer for visiting teams. Working closely with the Athletic Department, each member is assigned to meet four visiting athletic teams each term. They welcome the coaches and players, show them their dressing rooms, give them tape and other necessities, and lead them to their playing fields. The Open Door, well known for its hospitality among other schools, is a committee of which the students and faculty of Andover are very proud.

Working along closely with the Open Door is the Open House Committee. After the members of a team have come in from a game, the Open House serves them milk and cookies, or other refreshing things to eat. On football weekends, the Open House runs a get-together after the game at Cooley House, next to the Gym. Here, students, faculty, alumni, players, and friends of the school gather to have refreshments and to chat for a while. Also, after Sunday Chapel services in the fall and spring, the Open House serves coffee and tea to all the churchgoers in Grahm House. The committee was run by Scotty Cook, this year.

The Speaker's Committee, headed by Jock McBaine, presented many fine talks in the Chapel on Thursday mornings throughout the year. The function of this committee is to have students run one daily Chapel service a week.

John Wing's House Committee performed its functions very well. It is the duty of the House Committee to look after Grahm House, the home of the Phillips Society, and to make sure it is kept neat and orderly throughout the year.

The Affiliations Committee, this year, was headed by George Pidot. The members of the committee wrote letters to students in other countries, and sent tapes, records, and pictures over to them. Much useful information about foreign countries and customs was gained by them, while they had a lot of fun at the same time. Also, several members sold Christmas Seals in the Commons just before the winter vacation. The overall duty of the Affiliations Committee is to promote good will throughout the world for the school.

The Charities Committee proved to be the best on the Hill in a good many years. It is the responsibility of the Charities Committee to hold a drive once a year for the innumerable organizations which hold fund gathering campaigns throughout the year. The money gathered on the school drive is divided up among these organizations. This year's committee, led by John Murphy, set a goal of $4800. During the night of November eighth, the Friday before the Exeter football game, the members canvassed the entire school. When totaled, the final receipts were $6556.70: a new record for the school, which, when coupled with the next day's victory, gave Andover much prestige. The members of the committee should be congratulated for their fine work on this wonderful drive.

Headed by Tom Guildehaus, this year's Social Functions Committee proved to be very successful. The first duty of the committee was to run the Abbot Mixer, which took place in the Gym on a Saturday in October. The Mixer's wonderful success can be attributed to the members of the committee who, along with a similar group from Abbot, worked many hours in planning it. The second charge put upon the committee was to supervise and run the big Alumni weekend in the fall. This event went along smoothly, and was a tremendous success. Through the year, the committee held several excellent tea dances which were enjoyed by everyone who attended them. The Social Functions Committee served P.A. without failure during the whole school year, and had many wonderful successes.

The Community Service Committee, led by Dan Rowland, also had a successful year. Several groups of boys gave up their Wednesday afternoons throughout the year so that they could take care of the Andover Youth Center in downtown Andover. This kind help was very much appreciated by both the adults and youngsters of Andover alike. Also on Wednesday afternoons, several boys went over to the Children's Ward of the Lawrence General Hospital, where they entertained the children and helped by doing some of the work. Three or four times a term on Friday nights, some members of the committee went from dorm to dorm collecting old magazines for the Infirmary and old clothes for the poor and needy. The fine work done by the boys in the committee was appreciated by all who were concerned with it, and it helped to draw a closer bond between the people of Andover and the school.

Throughout the year, the Phillips Society gave its faithful service to the school and the people who live in the surrounding community. The president, Monty Bissell, and the ten other boys who make up the Executive Committee should all receive congratulations for the wonderful work they have done this year. The Phillips Society definitely proved itself Andover's most important organization, and one in which the school can feel proud.

FILM SOCIETY

Palmer, Whitehouse, Hull,
Woodward, Griggs, Myers,
Gildehaus

This year the Film Society, head by Bob Hull, lined up one of the best selections of films it has had in a long time. Certainly it had the most variety of any in the yast years. The year started off with The Green Man, with Alastair Sim in the leading role. On the same program also was a Mr. Magoo cartoon. The next film was H. G. Clouzot's The Wages of Fear which was a French horror film, after which came The Colditz Story, a movie about the conditions in a Japanese prisoner-of-war camp and the escapades of several men who escaped from it. The next week brought The River by Jean Renoir, and following that came George Orwell's familiar Animal Farm. The last two movies of the term were Carol Reed's The Third Man, starring Joseph Cottom and H. G. Wells, and Beat the Devil, with P.A's own alumnus, Humphrey Bogart, and that voluptuous Italian, Gina Lollobrigida.

These movies were held every Wednesday from January fifteenth to March fifth, thus breaking up the weeks of the term and providing every member many evenings of enjoyment.

STUDENT DEACONS

The Student Deacons, led this year by Charlie Bakewell, is one of the most respected organizations in the school. The Deacons are a group of boys who are elected to represent the school church, the Cochran Chapel, which has an active membership of nearly two-hundred students. Four days a week the Deacons keep order in the chapel and check absent those who have cut. On Sundays, the Deacons are in charge of collecting the offering. This year, as in the past, the Students Deacons worked hand-in-hand with the Faculty Deacons in the Communion Service held the first Sunday of each month. During the Christmas service, the Deacons are the main student speakers.

The Deacons also work closely with Reverend Baldwin who often consults them about student matters and about distribution to various charities of the money received in the weekly collection. The Deacons participated in many conferences during the year, such as the Northfield Conference in the fall term, and discussions sponsored by the Phillips Society at various times during the school year. The Deacons should be thanked for their continuous aid in furthering the religious atmosphere of the daily chapel service.

PHILO

With Pete Beinstock wielding the gavel and Klaus Kertess filling in for him in his absence, Sam Abbott reading the minutes each week and Einar Westerlund collecting (or trying to) the dues, supported by a membership of over seventy-five, Philo, the oldest student organization in Phillips Academy, enjoyed good-sized audiences. Upon occasion, the G.W. faculty room—with a seating capacity of a hundred—overflowed with anxious spectators, as when the Juniors debated with the Seniors as to the existence of Santa Claus. Since it was almost Christmas, the Juniors managed to satisfactorily convince the audience of the reality of St. Nick. The first debate of the year—Resolved: "Prepping is beneficial to the Andover student"—also drew a surprisingly large audience, which showed the good support that the Society was to receive for the rest of the year.

This year saw several innovations in Philo, such as the Prize Debate before the student body at Wednesday assembly, in which the question "All liberal arts colleges should be co-ed" was debated by Larry Lewis, Jon Middlebrook, and John Rockwell for the affirmative, and for the negative by John Daly, Bill Hamilton, and Tony Brown. The debate went to the negative, the decision being based on whichever side convincingly changed the minds of the greater part of the audience. To each member of the winning team went ten dollars. Though some of the debaters were members of Philo, the contest was open to the whole school, and it proved very successful, set up in this manner. Philo has high hopes of continuing it in future years. Also this year for the first time, Philo asked each of its members to submit a list of about twenty topics to the Topics Committee, from which the Committee selected the topics they thought best for debate. The system was far superior to the former one by which only the members of the Committee had a say in the choice of the topics. For a few weeks this year, the Society tried having a debate every Friday night, by having the club debates, usually scheduled for every other Friday night, held on Sunday after dinner; however, Sunday afternoon proved too inconvenient a time for most people, so the old system was reestablished, having varsity and club debates on alternating Friday evenings.

Junior Philo was successfully continued, under the direction of Klaus Kertess and Einar Westerland, and many Juniors got a chance to speak up and voice their opinions.

Varsity Philo also held many outside debates with other schools, including Juniors and Lowers of the Boston Latin School, the Harvard Freshman debating team, the Brooks School Juniors, the Williams Freshmen, and, of course, Exeter.

Pot Pourri
by
Einar J. Westerlund, Jr.

A look in the basement of Peabody House on nearly any Sunday afternoon and many Wednesday afternoons of the school year will most assuredly reveal a group of hard-working young men bent earnestly over fragments of what is eventually destined to become the yearbook. A yearbook to most P.A. undergraduates means very little, and will, in fact, amount to nothing of value until a number of years have passed. At that time, somewhere in the future, some sticky fingers are likely to lift the hallowed blue and white cover, and a small surprised voice will exclaim, "Gee, daddy, you sure looked funny then." It is for that moment that the staff of the 1958 Pot Pourri has labored, for only then will the purpose of the otherwise useless collection of team pictures and class something-or-others be realized: to provide an everlasting tie of some future date with these moments through which we now pass without a thought.

Exactly what has been endured to place this book in the hands of many hundreds of people will be known only to a small elite group commonly referred to as the Board members and the Heelers. One person in particular will wince for a long time to come whenever he hears the word yearbook or anything suggesting it. This person is Malcolm Salter, Editor-in-Chief of the Phillips Academy extravaganza. He has felt just about every emotion any human being can, down in the basement room of Peabody House, for there the expressions on his face have varied from hopeless despair to ecstatic joy, depending upon how the publication was progressing. As jack-of-all-trades in the yearbook business, Mal was likely to be found peaking over the shoulder of anyone on the staff, making helpful suggestions or actually taking part in the menial labor himself. Writing letters, making arrangements and various other tasks of supervisory nature were handled by Mal as well. There is certainly little doubt that he was the most instrumental individual of the whole project in finally seeing that this volume was set to print.

The editor as the deadline draws near

Working equally as hard toward the common purpose was Bob Mathewson, the Managing Editor. His previous experience in organizing and laying out yearbooks proved invaluable to the Pot Pourri, and certainly he put forth as much time and effort as anyone for the book. Handling pages 31 through 110 of the publication, Einar Westerlund, as Senior Editor, spent a considerable portion of his time computing the class polls and favorites as well as prodding tardy seniors into getting graduation pictures of themselves. Chris Zug took the place of the unfortunate Les Cheek, who, as Assignment Editor, has been placing the various writing tasks in the hands of eager Pot Pourri heelers. Jack Clymer master-minded the operations under his direction as Copy Editor. Mac Gordon, the Associate Editor, made himself useful in many varied capacities, namely, wherever particular attention was needed as far as layout etc., were concerned. Finally, Bruce McCollom, Gil Douglass, and Kim Bush, as Editorial board members, shared the perpetually unfinished task of laying out the publication.

The other group very much worth mentioning were those connected with the Business Board, spear-headed by Tom Myers, the Business Manager. Especially important to this group were advertising and allied business responsibilities. Roger Ahlbrandt, assistant to Tom, was of great importance in this department as well as board members Bruce Kaplan, Gerard Meistrell, Caddy Brooks, and Ed Perell. The business end of any undertaking is very important, and the 1958 Pot Pourri can well appreciate the services of the responsible group working in this capacity.

This year's Phillipian staff followed a general policy of attempting to pursue the better, more successful aspects of past board's decisions. Editor-in-Chief Jon Middlebrook and Managing Editor Jock McBaine, aided by a competent Editorial Board headed by John Rockwell, usually were able to put out a six- or even eight-page issue on time every week, rarely resorting to the four-page papers of past groups. The editors' outlook was one of encouragement to school projects and congratulations to successful ventures of both students and faculty. The paper's leaders tried to avoid falling back on the derogatory, negative approach to the school and its problems, and rather tried to point up the strong qualities and success of the Academy.

Not that all editorials tended to show a profile of the campus through the rosy spectacles of the optimist. A series of articles and editorials dealing with Abbot-Andover relations received much comment at both schools and was the subject of a great controversy. Finally The Phillipian attracted attention with the ultimate comment on the Abbot-Andover subject — The Great Fitzpatrick Issue.

A major decision of the Editors was carried into effect early in the year when a large number of boys who were felt not to be contributing their fair share of effort to the paper was dropped from the editorial board and from the list of heelers. The reason for this action was that it was agreed that these boys did not have the proper attitude towards their responsibilities as writers for the paper. This cleaning of the editorial house helped improve the quality of the writing by removing those who were not genuinely interested in newspaper writing. The level of excellence in the material published improved noticeably.

More attention was paid this year to reporting not only for the benefits of the student circulation, but also for the parent and alumni readers. Together these groups gave the newspaper a sixteen-hundred-copy circulation.

Managing Editor Jock McBaine varied the make-up, giving the paper a different, original appearance every week. General Manager John Rockwell supplied valuable aid to the top two editors. Bill Weeden wrote the important movie previews, columns, and features, as Executive Editor, while Bob Posner developed the heeling system to the largest size in the newspaper's history. Sports Editor Bill Stiles gave space to levels of athletics below the varsity teams in each sport. He also tried to cover "minor" sports thoroughly, whenever possible. Klaus Kertess handed in much-enjoyed weekly columns, which were for many of the readers the high spot in a well-written paper.

On the all-important Business Board, Dave Winebrenner and hard-working Yuan Yu did an excellent job in supplying the ads in accordance with Editor Middlebrook's desire for increasing The Phillipian's number of pages.

A Phillipian article by Managing Editor John Rockwell heralded the new look for 1958. After 103 years of publication, the format of the Mirror changed from a strictly literary one to a combination of humor, fiction, poetry, and more serious works, spiced with cartoons, photographs, and paintings.

The article was only the beginning of a campaign by the Editors: Henry Munn, John Rockwell, Jon Middlebrook, and Michael Levin, to arouse student interest. They succeeded to an extent unequalled by any previous Editorial Board. The Business Board sold an unprecedented number of subscriptions; and, unlike past editions which had been chiefly the work of the Editors, this year's Mirror was the product of the entire school.

The Winter issue of the publication began to show the results of the campaign. Featured was a long contribution by Editor-in-Chief Henry Munn, "You Can't Confess to Them Forever". One of the few serious works in the magazine, it was generally considered one of the best.

Prolific Managing Editor John Rockwell contributed several humorous articles; a more serious work: "A Dialogue in the Socratic Tradition," and a legacy for the underclassmen: an article concerning the various ways and means of squeaking through American History.

The issue contained several poems by Michael Levin, the best of which was one titled "What is a Pebble?". Other contents of the magazine included humor by Shepard Spink, and a long story by Jack Clymer.

Cartoons and page breaks drawn by Bill Hamilton enlivened the issue, and Maarten Henkes supplied some interesting paintings. Also highlighted was a series of unusual photographs of musical instruments by Vern Pratt.

In short, the editors of this year's Mirror, by their enthusiastic efforts, managed to convince a large portion of the students that the tradition of cynical indifference to the Mirror was a thing of the past.

This year the Press Club made the greatest strides forward it has made since its institution in 1954. To its job of insuring national coverage of Andover's athletic events, the Press Club, headed by president Gil Douglass, added the responsibility of covering also the school's non-athletic events—such as accomplishments of students in school leadership and scholarship. For this reason the club's faculty advisor was changed from Mr. Di-Clemente of the Athletic Department to Mr. Farrington of the Public Relations Office. Mr. Di-

PRESS CLUB

Clemente, however, remained in close contact with the club.

The second big change of the year was the setting up of the Press Club on the same basis as other similar school organizations. This was done by creating a definite heeling system and a Press Club Board whose members had to be approved by the faculty. Only board members were to be eligible for election to an office for the following year. Furthermore, only board members could be the heads of the various committees which wrote articles for national and home town newspapers. By this system it was thought that organization, seemingly lacking in the club, could be established on a sound basis.

In the fall term the Press Club swung quickly into action and provided on short notice all the information and pictures concerning Andover fall term sports used in the Exeter-Andover Official Football program. Members of the Press Club served as "spotters" for the radio broadcasters at the Deerfield and Exeter football game.

In the winter and spring terms, president Gil Douglass, vice-president Denny Ellsworth, and secretary-treasurer Beck Gilbert concentrated on making the new heeling system work efficiently. Highlighting the year for the Press Club was the selection of the recipient of the Andover Press Club Award—the highest award an Andover athlete can receive.

CHORUS

The 1957-58 Chorus numbered nearly one-hundred voices and thus set a new record for any musical organization in Andover's history. The Chorus, both the Choir and the Glee Club, is one of the most active organizations at Andover. Its members, devoting an average of five hours per week under the able leadership of Co-Presidents Jon Higgins and Carl Schieren and Secretary Dave Gillies, made the year more than merely a musical success.

P.A. played hosts to Dana Hall in the first concert of the year. "Marry a Woman Uglier Than You", a calypso number, was received very enthusiastically. Perhaps the high points of the program were two joint numbers: "Behold the Lamb of God" and "And the Glory of the Lord" — both from Handel's Messiah. The concert was the finest initial concert Mr. Schnieder has conducted. The ensuing dance was so successful that another Dana concert was planned for the Winter Term.

On the following day, the Chorus journeyed to Methuen, and with the Abbot Choir performed the annual concert of sacred music at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall. This concert was broadcast over the air from Boston. Before the fall term was over, the Chorus had sung at the Mount Vernon Congregational Church and at the Christ Church in Andover.

The winter term was the busiest term of the year. The Chorus had concerts with Beaver Country Day, Abbot, Walnut Hill, Radcliffe Freshmen, and again with Dana Hall. Added experience, hard work and excellent instruction molded the Chorus into a strikingly precise and balanced group.

Carousel was put on with professional finesse and vitality in the spring term, and a successful concert with Rogers Hall was a fitting end to the Chorus' year.

THE BAND

During the football season the Band, under the direction of William B. Clift, put on several original and interesting, shows.

One of the most outstanding shows was performed at the first game, against Northeastern. The Band formed a school house to the tune of "School Days". After putting on a short skit in this formation, they formed a full moon and then a crescent while playing "Moonglow" and "Shine on Harvest Moon". Then, in the pattern which ended their performances and came to be their signature, the unit formed an "A", played "Royal Blue", and finished with the "Phillips Hymn."

Another good performance was put on at the Tufts game. The theme of this show was "Being Lazy". The group formed a rocking chair to the tune of "Rockin' Chair", then, while playing "Lazy Bones", formed a fishing pole which hooked a gigantic fish. The "A", "Royal Blue", and "Sons of Phillips" followed.

At the Mount Hermon game the Band once more showed its better side. After playing the Mount Hermon song in an "H" formation they formed a clock face while playing "Rock Around The Clock", and Leroy Anderson's "Syncopated Clock". Then they played the "King Porter Stomp" in a standard jazz formation. At this game the boys proved their worth by cheering for the whole school, since they were the only spectators present from Andover.

At its excellent Exeter performance our band came onto the field from the sidelines doing a "one-two-three-Kick" step. They formed an "E", played Exeter's song, and formed a race track. Two teams of boys dressed as horses, one in gray representing Exeter, the other Andover, raced. During this the band played "The William Tell Overture", then the Exeter horse was "shot" and they played "The Old Gray Mare."

The band participated in more rallies this year than ever before because of the effort and enthusiasm of Sandy Burdett, its president. The marching group constituted the main part of the concert band with a few changes. This group performed a few times during the year before the movies, and in the spring term presented a Sunday afternoon concert. They wound up the season in fine style with concert-dances at Rogers Hall and Walnut Hill

Band at practice

ORCHESTRA

The 1957-58 Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Leavitt, had one of its most successful seasons in recent years.

The year's activities commenced on November 30 with a joint concert with the P.A. Chorus and Dana Hall's Chorus and Orchestra. High spots of the concert were fine renditions of "March of the Meisteringers", from Wagner's opera, "Die Meistersinger", and of Mozart's Symphony #6. The concert was followed by a dance at Peabody House.

The winter term was spent mainly in rehearsing for the New England Independent School Music Festival. This group, chosen from Andover, Saint Paul's, Dana Hall, Beaver Country Day School, and Abbot musicians, rehearsed nearly every weekend at one of the member schools. Their concert, given in March at the Sanders Theater in Cambridge, was an unqualified success. This occasion was the only opportunity the members of the Orchestra had to perform under a professional conductor. This year, for the second time, the conductor chosen was Mr. Nathan Gottschalk of Hartford, Connecticut.

Rehearsals for the annual operetta, "Carousel", began late in the Winter Term. "Carousel", the result of the combined talents of P.A.'s Chorus and Orchestra, and the Glee Club of Bradford Junior College, was presented on May 2 at George Washington Hall, and the fine performances of the participating groups won acclaim from many sources.

Special credit for the success of this year's Orchestra should go to the officers: President Ken MacLeod, and Business Manager Doug Jenner; and to Mr. Leavitt, who worked constantly to find interesting and enjoyable orchestrations for the group.

ACES

This year's Aces consisted of twelve members: Trumpets Larry Lewis (group leader), Monte Bissell, Frank Kemp, and Paul Oliver; Trombonists John Howland and Mitch Gail; Vern Pratt and "Howdie" Heinz on Tenor Sax; Tom Poole on Alto Sax; Bill Dunbar on Baritone Sax, Guitarist Frank Gerbode; and Drummer Ted Bailey.

The Aces first appearance of the year came at the Tea Dance sponsored by the French and Spanish Clubs. They introduced new arrangements of "Night Train" and "Lullaby of Birdland", and the performance was highlighted by a particularly fine arrangement of "My Funny Valentine". At the Chorus Dance after the Dana Hall concert they regaled the crowd with swinging arrangements of "Jersey Bounce" and "Leapfrog".

The group played their first concert of the year during the first part of the Winter Term, and gave a fine performance. During the remainder of the term they concentrated on expanding their repertoire, and in their Spring Term concerts they were playing a brand of swing the likes of which have not been heard on this campus for quite a while.

THE 8' n I

The 8'n 1 enjoyed a very successful year under the co-leadership of Dixie Carroll and Tom Welch. A fine array of songs and a lot of good singing talent gave the group many successes. Tom Welch and Ricky Hartnett sang at first tenor, with Dixie Carroll and Blitz Fox holding up the second tenor positions. At first bass were Tom Cutler, Bill Cruikshank, and Al Griggs, while Ed Frost and F. P.

Morse sang at second bass. A few of the songs by the group included "Bandeleros", "Mr. Moon", "Castle on the River Nile", and "Mumbles". The latter made a hit with crowds everywhere, as Tom Cutler comically played the part of "Mumbles", who the song is about. Winding up a successful year, the group sang at the Rye Tennis Week in the spring.

THE SOUR GRAPES

Informal practice session

May, 1957 — 12 Uppers and a Lower got together to show the school the advantages of thirteen voices. The "Sour Grapes" made their first appearance of the year during the Abbot Mixer before an enthusiastic Abbot-Andover audience. The leaders of the group, Dan Rowland and Carl Schieren, chose songs for the dancers' appeal, and the result was a widely varied medley including such songs as Mavourneen, Anywhere I Wander, Shangri-La, Tea for Three, and Istanbul.

The "Grapes" sang before Fall Promgoers and at the end of the Fall term were invited to sing on radio from Boston. During Christmas Vacation they went to New Jersey where they sang at the Short Hills Club Christmas Dance. They sang at many Chorus dances where also faculty and students alike were impressed greatly by this new group.

THE SPANISH CLUB

STANDING: Ripley Henkes, Kepner. SITTING: Heredia, Cornelissen.

During the past year the Spanish Club has continued to expand under the able leadership of President Jose Heredia and guidance of the faculty advisor Mr. Couch. Since last year the membership has been increased from 130 to 160, and the club has gained the reputation of the most-active language club at P.A. by its many speakers, movies, tea dances, and dinner-parties. The officers are Heredia as president; Andres Cornelissen, vice-president; Tom Gildehaus, secretary; Steve Ripley, treasurer; Mike Tippet, executive-at-large; and Maarten Henkes and Bill Hamilton as advertising managers.

During the year many speakers presented descriptions of Mexico and other Spanish-speaking lands. Among these was Maarten Henkes who spoke about Venezuela and showed a short movie. Many full-length movies were shown by the club including one about Porto Rico and Cuba and one, with English sub-titles, starring Cantinflas, Spain's most able actor. Two tea dances were also given: one in conjunction with the French Club in the fall term, the other in the spring term supported wholly by the Spanish Club. The two dinners given were very successful; both the Mexican Dinner on March 2 and the Andover-Abbot Spanish-Club Christmas Party received many compliments for originality. During the spring term the annual Spanish-French, or Bull-Frog, soccer game was planned to climax a successful and active club year.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club under the direction of Dave Trickey and Jerry Poinier enjoyed a successful year. The club members enthusiastically received various talks and activities designed to further the students' knowledge of Germany and improve their conversational German.

Mr. Lohnes, the faculty advisor who spent the previous year in Frankfurt, Germany, gave several interesting talks and showed numerous slides about Germany. Mr. Louis Davis spent a part of last summer attending the famed Salzburg Festivals in Salzburg, Austria; the club was pleased to hear his impressions of Austria and the Salzburg Festivals. A fine description of the German school system was interestingly presented by Peter Haug, an exchange student from Frankfurt, Germany.

The combined resources of Mr. Hulburd and Mr. Lohnes gave the club numerous German songs which the members enjoyed singing at the meetings. Plans were made to show a current German movie in the spring term for the entertainment of the club members.

Because of the growing interest, the well planned entertainment, and the numerous activities, the German Club successfully aided in developing an understanding of Germany, its culture, and its language.

term the Cercle Francais sponsored a second tea dance which, besides having the same good qualities as the first, was given the added prestige of being held in the Art Gallery. A third tea dance was held in the Spring term.

Owing to its good leadership and many activities, the French Club enjoyed a fine year, Vive la France!

THE FRENCH CLUB

Under the leadership of president Patrick Gorman, and with the assistance of their faculty adviser, Mr. Cochran, the Cercle Francais of 1957-1958 had an interesting and eventful year. Also helping the president, to make the year's activities run smoothly were vice-president Michael Fitzgibbon; secretary Malcolm Salter; and treasurer Robert Davis. Shepard Spink also deserves credit for his hard work as executive officer.

In the Fall term, meetings were held regularly on Tuesday evenings and drew large attendances. Many discussions and numerous short movies about France were largely responsible for the enthusiasm. Frequently refreshments were offered as an added incentive to sit-at-homes. At one meeting, with the help of slides, an interesting talk was given by Mr. Bensely.

Also in the Fall term the French Club was a co-sponsor of a fine tea dance which took place during the Deerfield weekend. The dance-goers were treated to the singing of the "8'n 1" and a new group called the "Broughams", who were making their first appearance at the dance. The music was, as usual, well taken care of by the "Aces".

The Winter term saw the continuation of regular meetings and was brightened by the showing of a full length French movie. During the Winter

The Outing Club, with a record membership of over 150, enjoyed one of the most productive years in its history, much through the hard work of president Pat Gorman. Roger Mackenzie was secretary-treasurer in charge of skiing, while Dave Snow, Scott Sanborn, and Bill Nordhaus were directors. Mr. Sanborn, as faculty advisor, directed his work crew in the fall to clear ski trails in the vicinity, and also helped with the Club's odd jobs.

The Club's first trip in the fall was to Mr. Sanborn's cottage in Kennybunkport, Maine. The weather was clear and warm, and all ate their lobster outside. The feed was followed by a hike along the nearby seacoast.

The ski trips in the winter were run with an abundance of skiers but lack of snow. There was a greater enthusiasm for these trips and a greater participation than in previous years. There were also steak feeds, numerous movies, a rock climbing trip to Mount Washington, as well as a dinner for photographer-skier John Jay. All in all, the members of the club enjoyed the year's activities, and look forward to another year of success.

RADIO CLUB

SITTING: Pidot, Lichtenstein.

The Radio Club, under the direction of its president and chief operator, George Pidot, was very active during the last year. The club bought a new antenna for the "shack," and the work on a versatile, high power transmitter was nearly completed. With this new apparatus the members will be able to make contacts with other "ham" operators all over the world.

As in the past, the club held code and radio theory classes conducted by the members and by Mr. Barss, the faculty adviser. Because of these classes, interested members have been helped to obtain novice licenses, making them eligible to use the club's low power transmitters with which many contacts have been made throughout the United States and Canada. In addition to the radio "shack" located behind Sam Phil, the club also maintains a workshop in the basement of Morse Hall where members may work on radio and electronic equipment.

For the future the club plans to use the new rig to continue to work on various certificates such as "Worked All States" and "Worked All Continents", and also perhaps to handle free radiograms for the student body.

The other officers for this year were: Paul Johnson, secretary; Joel Lichtenstein, George Smith, Chris Miller, and Bill Brown; Assistant operator.

MODEL RAILROAD CLUB

The Model Railroad Club, in the process of making a comeback to its former importance, has enjoyed quite a successful year. Under the able leadership of David Stare and with the backing of nearly 15 loyal model railroaders, the layout in the basement of Paul Revere has undergone major alterations. With its new and perfected layout almost finished, the club is now spending most of its time on an elaborate scenery set-up that will greatly enhance the workability of the road. Through the generosity of outsiders and members, the rolling stock has increased three fold in the past year and the track yardage has been doubled.

Plans have been made for a six-track passenger yard, which will later be supplemented by an eight-track freight yard. There is also some talk of a turntable and an enginehouse that will accommodate 12 engines.

With continued good backing and interest from the student body, the Model Railroad Club should experience rapid expansion in the next few years.

RIFLE CLUB

Because of increased student interest, and an expanded program, the Rifle Club began its '57-'58 season with a membership of seventy-five, which is greater than ever before. The range located in the basement of Pearson Hall, was the scene of practicing, by the members, several evenings a week.

The Rifle team, composed of the fifteen best marksmen in the club, participated in several matches during the year. On November 30, a match with Saint Paul's was held at Andover, and on December 4, the team matched its marksmanship against Gloucester High School, at Gloucester. Sparking the team were several members of last year's squad: Scott Cook, Steve Larned, John Cooper, Bob Posner, Chris Miller, Basil Cox, and Paul Neshamkin.

The club started the main part of its season during the winter term. The team shot in matches at Tabor Academy, Exeter, and participated in the Eastern New England Prep School Rifle League tournament at Exeter. Other members of the New England group are Exeter, Tabor, Saint Paul's and Belmont Hill. Our team also fired in the National Rifle Association Postal Matches. The team submitted targets once each month to the N.R.A., where they competed with targets submitted by nearly two hundred other participating teams.

Most of the credit for the successful year goes to the officers of the club: President Scott Cook, Vice-President Steve Larned, Secretary Bob Posner, Treasurer Chris Miller, and Co-Executive officers John Cooper and Basil Cox. Invaluable encouragement and assistance was given by faculty sponsors Mr. Merriam and Mr. Roehrig.

STAGE CREW

Also, under the watchful eyes of faculty sponsors Gerald Schertzer and Hart Day Leavitt the Crew was able to lend lights and stage properties to groups such as the Lawrence Hospital Benefit Show, the Children's Theater Workshop in Andover, and the Harvard summer school dramatic program.

This year the Stage Crew worked primarily on improving the rather poor stage equipment and the poor condition of the stage facilities.

For the Shakespeare production, Love's Labor Lost, the Crew built eight wooden platforms, both rectangular and curved, so that the production could be presented on three levels. These were built under the direction of Student Stage Manager Ned Irish and have become a permanent part of the stage properties.

Also included in the long range improvement plan was the procurement of a permanent collection of tools, both power and hand, so that the crew no longer has to borrow them from the shop.

And due to the efforts of Mr. Schertzer, the Crew had for the first time a supply of theatrical paint. This permitted the group to mix their own colors without having to buy more expensive mixed paints.

In its second year, the program of having about a dozen boys work onstage instead of having compulsory winter athletics worked well. In this additional time the boys learned carpentry, stagecraft, and lighting. They were also able to work on projects backstage such as the cleaning and enlargement of storage facilities, and the overhauling of the lighting system which was accomplished last year.

Besides doing all the work for Love's Labor Lost and the musical, Carousel, the Crew was in charge of stage arrangements for all the professional groups which visited during the year.

CHESS CLUB

The layman, peering in through a window of Cooley House some dark Tuesday or Thursday evening might have wondered what was going on inside to captivate the attention of twenty boys, some leaning over tables, deep in concentration, and carefully studying little statues on checker boards. Well, if he'd have gone inside, he would have found that he had been peeping in on one of the weekly meetings of the Chess Club, more active than ever this year, under its expanded program, planned by Mr. Hammond to include matches with other schools besides Exeter. Headed by their avid chess-playing president, Doug Smith, their vice-president by popular vote, Steve Rieber, and their secretary-treasurer, Dick Shirley, the members played matches with each other and with other schools such as Exeter and Brooks. This year, Doug Smith, Mike O'Donoghue, and Sandy Ruby, who were returning players from last year's victorious Exeter match, along with Ted Martin, a lower prep, climbed to the top of the Club's "chess ladder".

DRAMATIC WORKSHOP

This year's dramatic workshop, under the fine direction of president Henry Munn and the faculty advisor, Mr. Hallowell, put on many fine plays. In the fall term, The Gamblers by Nikolai Gogol, was presented in Peabody House. Using Peabody House was a unique experience for the players. The entire play was done in the center of the floor with the actors entering through the front door. The large audience of student and faculty sat in a ring around the actors. The play, a one act Russian comedy, was a hit and served as the basis for several other one act plays throughout the rest of the year. Much well-deserved credit should go to Henry Munn and Mr. Kraft, the advisor for this play, who both spent much time working out the plan of action for the use of the round stage. Even though the plays were held in this manner, they were put on very smoothly, and with good responses by the students, faculty, and friends of the school. As a whole, the Peabody experiment, tried by the workshop, was certainly a success.

The dramatic workshop, unlike most clubs and activities at Andover, has no set membership list. When Henry Munn, the president and only officer, and Mr. Hallowell decide to produce a play, tryouts are held which are open to the whole school. It is in this way that the plays presented get such a fine bunch of excellent actors. Nobody is required to act at any special time; so a great variety of actors with all types of ability are always at hand. After the tryouts have been held the real planning goes into action. In Peabody House, it was a little difficult for the actors to get accustomed to the staging; but that difficulty soon became smoothed out and the shows all were presented flawlessly. The Peabody method was good training for the Shakespearean stage which juts out into the audience.

As a whole, the head of the dramatic workshop feels that this year's plays were good successes. Everyone had a lot of fun in putting on the plays, both in G.W. and Peabody House, and much useful knowledge in the art of acting was gained by the players.

MECHANICS CLUB

The Mechanics Club, under its president, Dave Trickey, has been much more active this year than previously. This informal organization, designed to acquaint interested students with the workings of various mechanical devices, has found increasing interest with the student body during the past few years. The members had an opportunity to work with the club's excellent facilities, housed in two rooms in the basement of Morse Hall, and test automobile, airplane, and boat engines, as well as their own private projects. Much of the interest and effort of the club has been directed toward the re-vamping of a 1953 Chevrolet engine, two airplane engines, and the rebuilding of several lawnmowers and outboard motors. The work on the part of the individual members ranged all the way from testing the results of modifications on engines and attempting to build a small rocket. The club maintains a modern workshop equipped with all the tools and instruments necessary for this work, including a fine dynamometer for testing engine performance. It is the hope of the club and their faculty advisor, Mr. Lux, that next year will bring even greater activity and interest in this growing organization.

CAMERA CLUB

Under the direction of Dave Othmer and Andy Combe, the camera club got off to a fine start this year. Many long hours were spent in the club darkroom, situated in the basement of Peabody House. The main purpose of the club is to handle pictures for the Pot Pourri, the Phillipian, and the Mirror. President Othmer made excellent coverages of both proms which provided the Pot Pourri and the Phillipian with many fine shots. The Exeter weekend in the Fall was probably the best folio of prints made by the members of the club. The rallies, game, and victory celebration were all well depicted in the numerous shots by the club photographers.

The every day side of life at P.A. was directed for the Pot Pourri by Ralph Swearingen, and for the Phillipian by Dave Othmer. These two spent much of their time filming, printing, sorting, and enlarging for P.A.'s largest publications. The sole purpose of the club, however, is not just to supply the publications with photos. The members took many other interesting pictures and experimented with the darkroom apparatus. Also, the many new camera bugs which joined the club were taught the various "tricks of the trade". All in all, the members of the club had a very successful year.

ASTRONOMY CLUB

The Astronomy Club was another of the more active clubs on the "hill" during the past year. Their Wednesday afternoon meetings have been well attended, and have featured various lectures and films. It is a club principle that each member must give at least one lecture during the year on some phase of astronomy.

The club has a small observatory located behind Sam Phil, which is equipped with a fine refracting telescope. Work on the addition to this building has progressed well, and with the help of the maintenance department it should be completed this year. Another project, a 165-205mc. radio telescope, is in the planning stage. An exhibit on astronomy in the Library also has been tentatively planned for late in the Spring term.

The Astronomy club was a center of interest during the excitement over Sputnik, as members made numerous attempts to spot the satellite both with the naked eye and with the telescope.

The officers for this year were: Bob Kepner, president; Brian Sullivan, vice-president; Bill Weihofen, treasurer; Bruce Train, secretary; and Mr. Miner, faculty advisor.

The Newman Club continued to prosper and grow this past year, as in previous years, under the able leadership of Paul Kelly and his officers, John Sullivan and Jim Turchik. The loyal backing of nearly forty of the school's Catholic students has made this year one of the best in the club's history. As a result of this continued interest in the club, a busy year was mapped out under the supervision of Father Henry Smith of St. Augustine's Church in Andover, with the help of faculty advisors, Mr. Farrington and Mr. Craft.

Every other Wednesday night in Graham house discussions were held following talks given by visiting speakers. In the Fall term one of the outstanding speakers was Father Wynn from Merrimac College, who spoke on Church government. A successful Fall term was closed by a joint P.A.-Abbot Communion Breakfast at the St. Augustine's School where Professor Savoie, the guest speaker, currently studying at Harvard, spoke on economic relations between the U.S. and Russia.

The Winter and Spring terms saw continued interest among the members. During the Winter term the outstanding speaker was Bishop Raymond Laine of Toronto. There were some excellent speakers in the Spring term. The year was climaxed by another Communion breakfast with the girls of Abbot Academy.

FOOTBALL

VARSITY FOOTBALL SQUAD 1958

Led by Captain Gil Bamford, some sixty hopefuls returned to Andover for pre-season practice and met with rugged drills and unusually warm weather. Although only four starters returned from last year's team, Coach Sorota had one of the best teams he has seen in many years. Ending the season very successfully with a six and one record, Andover crushed

Exeter and was edged only by an unusually strong Deerfield team. Over all other teams Andover showed a definite superiority, scoring 142 points to their opponents' 41.

Captain Bamford, although bothered most of the season with a bad back, gave the crowds numerous thrills with his amazing breakaway ability; upper Roger Ahlbrandt proved himself a dependable substitute with his many long runs and by his defensive strength. At quarterback, Manch Wheeler led the team in kicking and total offense, while "all-prep" Tom Behan showed exceptional ability at passing and on defense. At left half were Dave Adzigian, Bobby Hull and Brock Kinnear; speedy Hank Higdon and Mike Bassett, who switched from quarterback early in the season, were right halfbacks. Mark Woodbury was "all-prep" right end and a really amazing pass receiver, while Harry Blauvelt, defensive star of the Exeter game, was at right end. Along with these were Bob Palmer, Steve Lazor, and Tom Cutler, all of whom saw a great deal of action. At right tackle was large, powerful Ed Rice; holding down the left tackle position was Win Orgera, coming up late in the season to replace injured Drayton Heard. Ted Bailey and Mac Rotan, also proved able substitutes. The guard spots were contended for all season between Phil Woodward, Tom Meyers, Al Griggs, and Reg Barnes, all fast and aggressive. Tom Gildehaus, the only regular lineman from last year's team and center of the "all-prep" team, led the squad on offense as well as on defense.

ANDOVER 19, NORTHEASTERN 6

Opening the season at Brothers' Field, Andover, Manch Wheeler led the Andover football team to a brilliant victory over the Northeastern Freshmen, 19-6. Early in the first period, Wheeler broke loose on his quarterback option play and streaked 68 yards for a touchdown. In the second period Hank Higdon climaxed a 43-yard drive by going over from the five. Then in the third period, Wheeler passed and ran the Andover team for 75 yards, and scored the touchdown himself from the 12. Late in the third period the Freshmen scored their only touchdown of the afternoon.

Captain Bamford and Wheeler carried the bulk of the offensive duties, while Tom Gildehaus and Tom Behan led the team on defense.

ANDOVER 13, TUFTS FROSH 0

The Andover team won a decisive, but hard-fought, victory over the Tufts Freshman team by a score of 13. Late in the third period the Blue first hit paydirt on a three yard plunge by Captain Gil Bamford. For the remainder of the afternoon Andover was plagued by hard luck whenever they neared the opposing goal line. With merely 40 seconds to go in the game, Manch Wheeler ran over from the five to score the Blue's second and final touchdown. The extra point was drop-kicked by Tom Behan.

Leading the team in the line were Tom Gildehaus and Ed Rice, while dependable Tom Behan did a fine job on defense in the secondary.

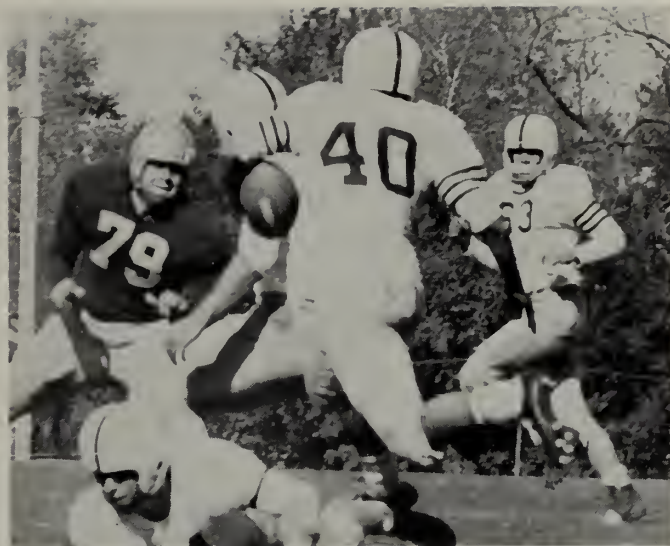

"If the legs don't work, try the hands."

ANDOVER 31, MOUNT HERMON 8

Although apparently holding the overconfident Andover offense in check for the first half Mount Hermon could not contain it once it started moving. Andover's only touchdown in the first half came on a long punt return by Manch Wheeler and Gil Bamford's drive over from the five. During the rest of the half, Mount Hermon threatened Andover's goal line three times, but were thrown back by the brilliant defensive work of Gildehaus, Higdon, and Woodbury.

Led by the fine quarterbacking of Tom Behan, the spirited Blue came to life in the second half. Bobby Hull intercepted a pass and sprinted 95 yards for a touchdown. Then Higdon and Kinnear teamed up to score another one, while Tom Behan found Steve Lazor and Mike Bassett open for the other two touchdowns, ending the game.

DEERFIELD EDGES ANDOVER, 14-7

The first meeting between these previously unbeaten football powers produced the most exciting game of the season. Deerfield held Andover helpless in the first half while their own offense displayed power and drive in scoring their two touchdowns. In the second half Manch Wheeler returned a Deerfield punt to the visitors' 24. Six plays later Wheeler scored, and Dex Morse kicked the extra point.

Andover got possession of the ball on its own 12 with only six minutes in the game. Tom Behan threw two long ones to Mark Woodbury, covering 81 yards to the Deerfield 4; however, on third down Andover fumbled and Deerfield took possession, ending the game.

Leading the team were Tom Gildehaus at center and Ed Rice at tackle. Tom Behan and Mark Woodbury spearheaded the Andover aerial attack, while Captain Bamford and Wheeler led the Blue on the ground.

ANDOVER 26, BOWDOIN FROSH 0

Although continually hampered by rain, Andover swamped a previously unbeaten Bowdoin Freshman team, 26-0. Manch Wheeler led the scoring with two touchdowns. A plunge by Tom Behan from the one and a pass from Behan to Harry Blauvelt covering 35 yards accounted for the other two. Brock Kinnear added both the extra points.

Both teams played the game well considering the rain, but the Bowdoin line could not hold the powerful Andover backs. Wheeler, Captain Bamford, and Roger Ahlbrandt made the most of the yardage on offense, while Behan, Win Orgera and Tom Gildehaus held Bowdoin through the line.

ANDOVER 45

ANDOVER CRUSHES EXETER, 45-6

The Andover football team climaxed its season with a tremendous victory over Exeter, 45-6. The Blue exactly reversed the defeat in 1956 by the strong Exeter team. Andover started its scoring early in the first period: apparently stalled on the Exeter 26, Manch Wheeler fooled the entire Exeter team and passed to Mark Woodbury for the score. Exeter rebounded with a long pass for their only score of the day. Andover was checked momentarily, but then sent Bobby Hull over from the five, and likewise Tom Behan from the ten to make the score at the half 20-6.

At the outset of the half, Behan hit Woodbury, who made a fingertip catch and outran the Exeter team 55 yards for a touchdown. Very shortly afterwards, Behan hit Steve Lazor for another touchdown pass making the score 32-6.

Exeter threatened again but was unable to score, and Andover took possession of the ball. On the very first play Behan hit Mark Woodbury for 42 yards and Mark's third score of the day. Three minutes later Bobby Hull made the final touchdown to make the score 45-6.

EXETER 6

Not enough can be said for the team's performance. Tom Gildehaus continually stifled the plays up the middle. Also outstanding were Ed Rice, Harry Blauvelt, and Phil Woodward. Gil Bamford played his finest game, gaining yardage on the ground when the team needed it most, while Tom Behan, Mark Woodbury, and Harry Blauvelt led the team in the air. The Exeter game wrapped up a fine season, whose success was due to the strong support of the student body, the excellent managing of Nick Nicholas, and the fine coaching of Steve Sorota.

SOCCER

VARSITY SOCCER SQUAD 1958

With fifteen returnees back from last year's squad, the Dekemen looked very strong during pre-season practice. Captain Lew Van Amerongen, Jose Heredia, and Paul Fine headed the list of veterans. Kent Hubbard, John Ledyard, and last year's Exeter game hero, Demi Gibson, also showed their skill. Mike Tippet and Art Mann looked good in the half back slots, while Bill Snyder, Roger Hooker, and Mike Sherman filled in the fullback positions. Dave Somyer and Steve Ripley proved strong contenders for the starting berth in the goal.

In the first game of the season, the big Blue team defeated Governor Dummer 2-1. After a scoreless first half, the Dummer line managed to push in its only score of the day. However, Lew Van Amerongen and John Ledyard each tallied to give periods. Finally, the Brown offense broke through and scored in the fourth quarter to make the score 1-0. Demi Gibson came back and tallied for the Blue, however. A scoreless overtime was played and the game ended.

After the two previous ties, Van Amerongen's Blue booters made a comeback by soundly smearing M.I.T. 6-0. Jose Heredia tallied one in the first period, one in the second, two in the third, and one in the fourth. Hub Hubbard also scored one for the Blue. Andover next whipped Tufts Frosh 3-1. After a scoreless first period, the Frosh the team its first victory. Three days later, the Dekemen lost their first game to Yale, 5-1. The team became handicapped, however, when first string goalie Dave Smoyer was severely injured by a Yale forward. After five minutes of play in the first period, left wing Toney Mayer drove in a shot past the Eli goalie for Andover's only score.

With Heredia and Smoyer out due to injuries, the Royal Blue managed to hold Belmont High to a scoreless tie. Though Andover dominated the ball throughout the game, no shots were sent into the twines. Finally, after four hard overtimes, the game was called.

The following Friday, Andover tied the Brown Freshmen 1-1. The Blue defense showed considerable spark, and held Brown scoreless through three managed to edge one past the Blue defense for their only score. Heredia soon tallied for the Blue on a pass from Van Amerongen. In the third quarter, Captain Lew gave the team another score on a low slam into the nets. Two minutes later, John Ledyard pounded another one into the Tufts goal to give Andover a final 3-1 lead.

The next victim was a mediocre Medford High team. The first period remained scoreless, even though the Dekemen threatened the Medford goalie many times. Midway through the second period, John Ledyard looped a shot over the head of the Medford goalie to tally for the Blue. After a scoreless third period, Heredia and Hubbard each pounded in scores for the Dekemen. Good defensive playing by Snyder, Smoyer, and Tippet helped give the team this much deserved win.

Playing its second away game of the season, the Andover squad bowed to a powerful Deerfield team 3-0. After a scoreless first period, during which the Blue dominated play, the Big Green came back and made their first tally of the day. The two teams played evenly in the third quarter, neither scoring. In the fourth period, despite fine goal tending by Smoyer, Deerfield scored twice.

P. A. forgot its loss to Deerfield, however, and routed the Saint Paul's soccer team 4-1. In the first period, a Paulie forward dribbled through the Blue backfield and scored the only Red tally of the game. In the second period, the situation quickly changed when Captain Lew headed a loose ball into the Red goal. Hubbard then booted two quickies for the Blue to give the team a 3-1 lead at the half. Midway through the third period, Fine passed to Van Amerongen who drove in the final score of the day.

On the following Saturday, the Dekemen went to Cambridge where they tied Harvard 1-1 in a constant downpour. Because of the mud and water, neither team could break away and score during the first period. In the second quarter, Van Amerongen booted a penalty kick past the Harvard goalie for our only score. In the second half, Harvard managed to drive one past Dave Smoyer who had trouble moving in the wet goal box. The rest of the game remained a stalemate in which neither team could score. Two overtimes were held, but once again neither team could make a tally.

The powerful Blue team put the finishing touches on their very successful season by crushing Exeter 4-3 on Brothers' Field. The Blue took over early in the first quarter when Demi Gibson, two goal hero of last year's Exeter game, pounded a beautiful shot into the nets with less than a minute of playing time gone. Exeter, undaunted by Andover's startling attack, made a comeback when O'Donnell eased one past Dave Smoyer. The Blue ended the quarter with Gibson tallying his second of the game, the Dekemen ended the game victorious.

Looking back over the season, the team's record stood at six wins, three ties, and two losses: an excellent record. Under Deke's fine coaching, the standouts were Captain Lew van Amerongen, Jose Heredia, and Hub Hubbard on the line, Snyder and Tippet at halfback, and Smoyer, Murphy, and Sherman on defense. As a whole, Coach DiClemente's team lived up to all expectations and had an extremely successful season.

goal of the day. The second quarter showed many fine drives by both teams. Exeter's O'Donnell once again shined as he drove in another shot to match Gibson's twin tallies. This made the score 2-2 at the half. In the third period, a penalty kick by Mike Tippet was deflected into the goal by Demi Gibson for his third tally of the afternoon. O'Donnell edged one by Smoyer, tying Gibson with his third of the day. Going into the fourth quarter with the score tied, the Blue made the winning tally of the game on a shot by Captain van Amerongen. In keeping up a strong defense throughout the rest

CROSS COUNTRY

VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY SQUAD 1958

This fall the Harriers suffered considerably from the loss of last year's first four men; Dexter Koehl, Grant Brownrigg, and Captain Chris Wadsworth were the only returning men from the '56 team's first nine. The team was strengthened by seniors Jim Shinn, cross country skier, John Huntington whose record made him eighth man this year, and Snowdon Hall, who placed sixth in the interscholastics for Andover this year. In spite of much new strength, the team could only chalk up a record of one win and four losses besides losing to the Harvard freshmen and placing sixth in the interscholastics.

The team was first challenged by a superior Harvard freshman team, Harvard sweeping through with a 15:48 victory. Two Harvard frosh tied for first, followed by four teammates. Andover's John Charlton took sixth with a time of 15:19, Rhineland and Koehl took ninth and tenth places respectively.

Next, the team travelled to Deerfield where they were edged out 29-30, hindered by an unfamiliar, flat course. Also contributing to the defeat was their underconfidence caused by fear of Deerfield's unusually strong team, whose first man had won the interscholastics the previous year. Again, however, Charlton came in first for Andover with a time of 14:14.

The Northeastern freshman meet was perhaps the most discouraging of the season, Andover being topped 21-35 by a Northeastern team of about equal ability. Dex Koehl managed to pull out in front of the rest of the team to take fifth place for the Blue, with a time of 15:31 in spite of a heavy rain which made the course very slippery and hampered many of our men.

Against Saint Paul's, Dex Koehl swept through to win the meet with a time of 14:48, making him the first Andover man to run our course in under fifteen minutes this year. Even though nine of our men finished under sixteen minutes, we were unable to take the meet, and St. Paul walked away with a 21-40 victory.

At the Tufts' meet, the last before the interscholastics and the only win of the season, a new record was made by a Tufts freshman who ran the course for the first time in 13:54, breaking the previous record by ten seconds. But Tufts lacked the depth to take the meet and Andover came out on top 20-35 with Koehl taking second place in fifteen minutes flat, and six Andover men following close behind.

Mount Hermon played host to this year's interscholastics and took first place among the twelve teams, while Exeter took fourth and Andover sixth. Tony Rhineland, also varsity half-miler, was first for Andover, taking seventeenth place. Next for the Blue was John Charlton, taking twenty-third, and Dex Koehl soon followed in twenty-seventh place. Captain Chris Wadsworth was unable to run because of a foot injury which also prevented his running against Tufts.

Although the Harriers didn't enjoy a very successful season this year, the records of many underclassmen on the team, show that there should be a lot more victories next fall. All season, uppers Dex Koehl and John Charlton vied for first place, while upper Tom Kukuk came in fourth for Andover in the interscholastics, taking thirty-first place, and fellow classmate Ned Grew took tenth place. Both junior Steve Hobson and lower John Bissell looked very good this year and showed much improvement during the season. Under the excellent coaching of Mr. Hallowell, these men should help make up a very promising '58 team.

Face off

The 1957-58 season proved to be a time of building for the P.A. hockey team. Coach Harrison had only seven seniors on the squad; Steve Ripley, Pete Kenney, Frank Hammond, Pat Gorman, Kent Hubbard, Buddy Foote, and Don Richardson. There were, however, an amazing number of very good underclassmen and preps with which to fill out the team. Uppers Bill Snyder, Bill Bevis, Brooks Hall, and Lee Pendleton, and lowers; Hugh Wise, Ned Leavitt, Joe Prah, and Web Harrison proved outstanding this year, and will be invaluable to next year's squad. Senior prep, Earl Smith, also proved to be a valuable asset to the team. This potentially strong team, however, was plagued by a number of unforeseeable early season difficulties, and as a result got off to a rather slow start.

The late part of the Fall term was marked by the beginning of work on a new barrel style roof for the Sumner Smith rink. This partially walled structure will serve to enclose the rink, provide better lighting, protect the surface from the sun, rain, and snow, and among other things eliminate the laborious task of rink sweeping after each storm. This long needed construction project, which will be such a boon to future hockey teams, never the less proved to be the major problem faced by this year's pucksters. Because of the work, the rink was not available for use until the last week of January, and finding ice on which to practice and play was a very real problem. As bad weather caused delay after delay on the rink cover, arrangements were finally made for the varsity to practice on the Brooks Academy rink. The same bad weather which delayed the construction also curtailed the desperately needed practice at Brooks, and forced the cancellation of several early games. The J.V. and club teams attempted to hold practices on the various ponds around the "Hill", but the weather also played havoc with these plans.

Another early setback suffered by the team was the injury of captain, Steve Ripley. His broken leg incurred over Christmas vacation while skiing in British Columbia kept him off the ice for most of the season. The lack of his ability, experience, and leadership was obvious and was a major factor in the team's early defeats.

NOBLE AND GREENOUGH 5—ANDOVER 3

The team went into the first game on January 11, against Noble and Greenough with almost an utter lack of practice. This need for experience became increasingly clear as the opposition scored 5 times in the first two periods. At first the team seemed unable to set up and coordinate plays successfully, but, sparked by veteran Frank Hammond, the Blue came back to score once in the second period and twice in the third. Though actually out playing them in the final frame, Andover was not able to overcome its opponent's early lead. In spite of the loss, the coaches were quite encouraged at the days showing.

BOWDOIN 2—ANDOVER 0

The following Saturday the team journeyed to Maine to take on the Bowdoin Freshmen. The first period was dominated by the frosh and after several fine saves, they managed to sneak the puck past goalie, Don Richardson. In the much stronger second half, the line of Hammond, Kenney, and Gorman, found itself in scoring position many times, but was foiled in each attempt. The third period was marked by the excellent defensive playing of Kent Hubbard and Earl Smith, but chances for Andover tallies were scarce and the game ended with the bigger, more experienced, Bowdoin team on top by two goals.

DEERFIELD 4—ANDOVER 3

The next weekend at Deerfield the squad dropped a suprisingly close game to our up and coming rivals from the west. Earl Smith and lower, Ned

Defense moves in

Kenney in action

Leavitt, each found the nets for single tallies in the second period, and Hugh Wise, another lower, scored the final P.A. goal early in the third. Steve Cook, the Deerfield captain and defense man, starred for the Green by scoring two goals, one of them in the last four minutes which decided the game. Andover goalie, Don Richardson, again handed in a fine game along with uppers, Bill Snyder and Brooks Hall. The team showed great improvement in this game and managed to hold their own despite their lack of practice and the fact that Deerfield had been on the ice since Thanksgiving.

YALE 8-ANDOVER 2

After a week's practice on their own rink, Andover took on the Yale freshmen, and for the first period put forth their best effort of the year. Early in the first frame Web Harrison on a solo attempt put a long backhand into the corner of the net, and in the next period Pete Kenney scored from in front of the Yale goal after a beautiful pass from Frank Hammond. Yale scored four times, however, in the dismal third period, and this plus four other scattered goals was more than enough to give them the game. The superior experience and ability of the Frosh was appariant to overyone.

MILTON ACAD. 4-ANDOVER 1

Continuing their losing streak the Blue dropped their first Wednesday afternoon bout to Milton Academp. P.A. drew first blood, but Pete Kenney's early goal turned out to be the only bright spot of the afternoon, as Andover played its worst game of the season. The team seemed to have trouble controlling their passes and playing positions against the superior Milton team.

ANDOVER 3-MIDDLESEX 3

As if making up for their showing against Milton, the blue wave at last broke their jinx by tying Middlesex in three periods and an overtime. Goals by Wise, Kenney, and Foote, together with some of the year's best playing combined to keep Andover ahead until late in the third period when Middlesex chalked up their third goal. The visitors, however, were unable to score again, and the game was called at the end of one overtime.

The season might well be described as it was summed up by Mr. Harrison, "New roof, bad weather, bad season," though considering the difficulties it faced the team did very well. With the Harvard, St. Paul's, Brown, and Exter games still to be played the team will have an up-hill fight all the way. The scores of these games and an account of the Exeter game will be carried in the supplement.

Varsity Basketball

FIRST ROW: Bamford, Hull, Kirk, Whitehouse (capt.), Woodbury, Higdon, Woodward. SECOND ROW: Deke, Toole, Moger, Lynch, Wadsworth, Murphy.

In the field of Varsity Basketball in 1958, coach DiClemente had very much hope for a "very productive season". With four returning lettermen and a fairly strong bench, the prospects looked bright indeed. The only drawback was an obvious lack of height, certainly a strong disadvantage.

Perhaps it was the lack of height, along with inconsistent foul-shooting, which accounted for the 88-71 defeat by Tufts. Nevertheless, Captain Jack Whitehouse was the game's highest scorer with 24 points, and Phil Woodward was close behind with 17. Also, Garrit Kirk showed good rebounding; but Tuft's "diamond offense" proved too much for the Blue.

Andover snapped back strongly in their second game to crush New Hampton by the score of 89-52. Whitehouse, Woodard, and Bamford led the Blue's offensive game with tallies of 26, 18, and 23 respectively. Aided by Hank Higdon and Kirk, the Dekemen coasted to an impressive victory.

Lack of height was, again, a detriment to the team in the Bowdoin Frosh game. Although Whitehouse scored 19 and Kirk scored 13, nevertheless the Royal Blue was defeated 88-65. Mark Woodbury aided the team with exceptional rebounding; however, Bowdoin proved conclusively that it had the edge.

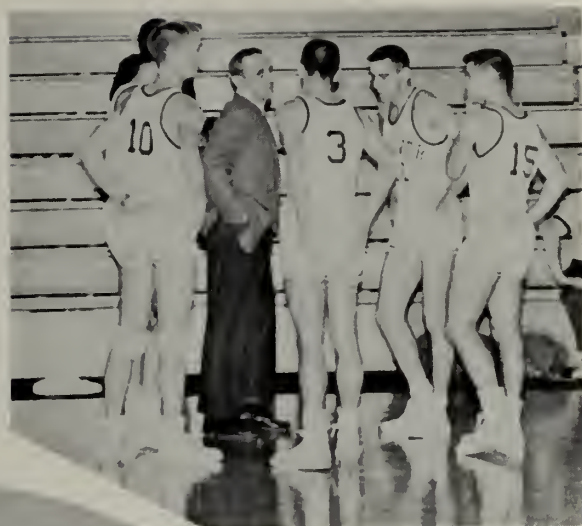

In its fourth game, Andover lost a hard-fought contest to Wentworth. The score, 57-54, is a good indication of the game. Although the Blue led at halftime, 34-32, Wentworth had pulled ahead by 8 points at the end of the third period. This lead was overtaken by the combined efforts of Whitehouse, Woodbury, and Hull. Wentworth made 2 free throws late in the final quarter to regain their lead and win the ballgame.

To redeem this loss, the P.A. squad played its best game of the season to date, to defeat the Yale Frosh, 64-61. Captain Whitehouse sank the decisive basket with only 30 seconds left to play in the game. Although Andover was leading at the end of the first quarter by 5 points, the Frosh fought back to a 31-31 tie at the half. The contest was undecided from there on in, until Whitehouse sank a field goal and a pair of free throws to insure the victory. Perhaps defense was the most outstanding characteristic of Andover in this game. Both Bobby Hull and Hank Higdon repeatedly stole the ball from their opponents. On offense, Andover netted the majority of its points from the outside, while Yale scored predominately from the inside. This was the first Andover basketball victory over Yale in more than a decade.

Fired up by their victory over Yale, the Dekemen could not be stopped by Lawrence Academy at all. The Blue jumped to a substantial lead in the first few minutes of the game, and were never again threatened. At the end of the quarter, the score stood 22-6 with Lawrence on the trailing end. The second period saw Whitehouse sink 10 points and lead the team to a highscoring quarter. Mark Woodbury and Phil Woodward teamed up in the final half to insure the game.

Pre-game warmup

In the seventh game, the Dekemen defeated Mt. Hermon, 79-63. Mark Woodbury was high scorer with 27 points to his credit. Although Andover was 7 points down at the end of the first half, a fine team effort proved too much for their opponents in the 2nd half. Andover's full court press in this half rattled Mt. Hermon into giving up several easy baskets. Garrit Kirk and Jack Whitehouse also helped the cause by scoring 9 and 20 points, respectively.

In the Huntington game, Upper Garrit Kirk hit was eight points in the first quarter to keep the score close. After that, both Woodward and Whitehouse hit with 20 points apiece during the game to aid considerably in the victory. Even though the game was tied early in the 4th quarter, 55-55, Huntington folded under Andover's press and was outscored 26-11 in the last period. Bobby Hull also hit for 17 to make the win easier.

At the time the POT POURRI goes to press, several games are left unplayed. Among the team's strong competitors will be Harvard, Brown, the University of New Hampshire, and the Amherst Frosh. Nevertheless, the outlook looks bright for a successful season and indeed a fine record next year seems evident.

Garrit Kirk and Hank Higdon will both be returning next year to the starting lineup. Tony Lynch and Dan Moger, also Upper, are improving with each passing week. Good material is expected to come out of an undefeated J.V. team and the freshman team, likewise undefeated.

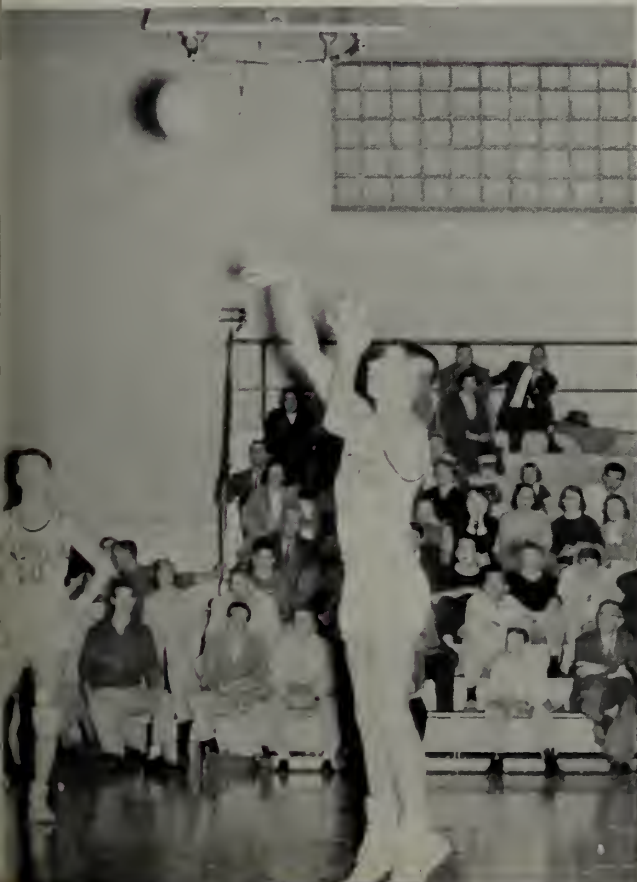

As for the remainder of this season, it seems safe to state that Andover should come out with an impressive record. The Andover quintet certainly showed their power in the Yale game, and if the present trend holds true, the 1958 basketball team will prove to be much better than average.

SWIMMING

The Varsity Swimming team, in spite of the excellent training of Coach Reagh Wetmore and the unusually large number of returning letterman, was unable to overcome the stiff competition it met in such teams as the Harvard and the Dartmouth freshmen, and the team's record didn't appear very impressive. However, the season was certainly no failure; new records were made, great new swimmers were discovered, and the returning varsity men really stood up under the rigorous competition and often overcame it.

The freestyle events were strengthened by the return of many of last season's Varsity, including Steve Larned, who was very strong in both the fifty and the hundred, "Boobers" Meehan, consistently strong in the fifty, Dixie Carroll in the 200, and Co-captain Monty Bissell in both the fifty and in the 200. Elliot Miller, a Lower prep, turned out to be the great news of the year in the 100 free, showing unusually fast improvement, and at the rate he's going, he should always be out front next year.

Returning from the '57 Varsity, C.D. Cooper and Jeff Movius were our best bet in the Butterfly, but stiff competition was coming at them from all sides. In the meet with Harvard, two Harvard men, swimming as a pair, finished a body length ahead of our men with a time better than our present school record for the 100 Butterfly. Bill Hilliard was discovered to have a special talent for the Butterfly this year, never having swum it before.

And of course, there was always Tom "Spider" Welch streaking through the water to come in first for the Blue team in the 100 yd. Backstroke; this year he was consistently a winner. Brock Kinnear was greatly improved this season and he strengthened us in the Backstroke.

In the Breaststroke, returning Varsity man Dave Dexter led the Blue team, followed by Upper Bill Fricknoeff. Upper prep Paul Oliver proved himself fairly good in the 100 yd. Breast, and by next year should be doing very well.

Our diving suffered this year from the loss of all the '57 Varsity divers. Phil Makanna, on the J.V. last season, did his best to pull us through the diving, with the help of Junior Dan Mahoney, who is expected to do great things for the team next season.

Monty Bissell really showed in the Individual Medley, by setting a new school record in the Williston meet, which was only the second time he ever swam the race, the first time being in the Dartmouth meet the previous week. Jeff Movius and Larry Lewis also swam the 150 Medley for the Blue.

The Medley Relay team was composed of Co-captain Welch (Backstroke), Dave Dexter (Breaststroke), Jeff Movius or Charles Cooper (Butterfly), and Bruce McCollom, Elliot Miller or George Hughes (freestyle). The Freestyle Relay team was chosen from Bob Meehan, Brock Kinnear, Elliot

Miller, Bruce McCollom, Duffy Hughes, and Rufus Clay. In the Deerfield meet, Meehan, Bissell, Miller, and Larned composed the Freestyle Relay team.

A look at a few of the team's '58 meets shows that though the Blue really had good material, they were faced with the stiffest competition in years and would have to be better than great to overcome it. In their second meet of the year, against the Dartmouth Frosh, the Blue really had a hard fight, and though our swimmers did their best, they couldn't beat the competition and lost 50-36. Co-captains Monty Bissell and Tom Welch really helped the team when they took first in the 200 yd. Freestyle and the 100 yd. Backstroke respectively. Also strong in the meet were Larned, who placed second in the 50 yd. Freestyle, Kinnear (second in the 100 Back), and Junior Mahoney, who was second in the Dive, not to mention our winning Freestyle Relay team (Meehan, Clay, Kinnear, Miller). The Williston meet remained undecided until Andover lost the Medley Relay, making it impossible for the Blue to take the meet in spite of their win in the next race, the Freestyle Relay, and the final score was a close 42-44. However, Monty Bissell's new record in the Individual Medley raised the team's Freestyle, the 100 yd. Free, and the 100 yd. Backstroke respectively. It was the same story against the Harvard Frosh as against Dartmouth, and we were unable to overcome Harvard's stiff competition and lost 51-35. Harvard's team managed to set new P.A. pool records in the 200 yd. Medley Relay and in the 150 Individual Medley, not to mention their breaking our school record in the 100 yd. Butterfly. However, Co-captains Tom Welch and Monty Bissell again took first in their favorite events, the 100 yd. Back and the 200 yd. Freestyle. Steve Larned and Elliot Miller took first and second in the 100 yd. Freestyle.

Though their record wasn't impressive this year, the team had many good men and hopes to do much better next year with the help of such winners as Elliot Miller, who proved so terrific in Freestyle events, Brock Kinnear and Duffy Hughes, who both swam the Freestyle Relay, and Dan Mahoney, who surprised everybody with his diving. These men, who helped strengthen the team this year, should be the mainstays of the '59 team. Maybe if the Blue hadn't swam against such great teams this season they would have chalked up a better record, but they certainly wouldn't have had the incentive to fight so hard and really do their best.

WINTER TRACK

Although it lacked such standouts as Tom Dignan and Charlie Clark, this year's varsity track team, led by co-captains Paul Armstrong and Paul Kelly, was, as usual, strong in the weights and showed constant improvement in the running events. The team opened the 1958 season successfully, outscoring the Tufts Freshmen  $58\frac{1}{2}$ - $36\frac{1}{2}$ . In the shotput, throws of forty-five feet could not even challenge Beasley of Tufts, who ranks as one of the best freshmen shot putters in the country. Ted Baily, however, stole some of the glory from Beasley by beating him in the weight with a toss of forty-six feet. Andover victories by Sherman in the 600 and co-captain Kelly in the 45 yard hurdles were followed by a sweep of the thousand yard run. It is interesting to note that Tony Rhinelander, Andover's first man in the thousand, had to come from far behind on the last lap to beat Junior Steve Hobson. Hobson promises to be a great standout in this event. Co-captain Armstrong was barely beaten in the fifty by Hughes of the Frosh. Armstrong later redeemed himself, however, when he, along with Mike Sherman, made up an amazing twenty yard deficit to win the mile relay. The mile was won by John Charlton, while Bob Dent and Mike Tippet tied for first place in the pole vault with jumps of eleven feet.

Later in the week the team met the M.I.T. Freshmen. The best Andover could do in the hurdles and the dash were second places by Kelly and Don Campbell; however, with a time of 2:32.8, Tony Rhinelander again led the Sorotamen to a sweep in the thousand. Rhinelander was followed home by Steve Hobson and Tom Carty. In the mile, John Charlton easily outdistanced Wegner and Hurd of the Freshmen to win in the time of 4:56.0. With a broad jump of 20 feet  $2\frac{3}{4}$  inches, Alan Albright won his specialty while Mike Tippet and Bob Dent again tied for first place honors in the pole vault. Paul Armstrong won the 300, and Sherman, followed by Lower Chuck Goodell and Tech's Gustfson, won the 600 in 1:21.8. The Blue's Mishell Stucki tied at 5' 6" along with three freshmen in the first place spot in the high jump.

Finish of the 300

And the coach checks the time

These first two meets were encouraging not only because they were wins, but they also showed strength in all events. These meets also fortold a strong future with underclassmen such as Steve Hobson, who took two seconds in the thousand, and Chuck Goodell, a Lower who took second in the 600.

Start of the mile

Relay team

On Saturday, February 1, the relay team travelled to Boston Garden to duel with Exeter in the annual A-E relay held at the B.A.A. games. At 9:10 the event got underway with Chuck Goodell drawing the outside lane against Exeter Senior Prep Howard Gray. Gray got off to a fast start and immediately put fifteen yards between himself and Goodell. Before handing the baton to Carl Schieren, Goodell managed to make up some of the yardage. Schieren's opponent, Remson Wolff, took over, however, right where his teammate left off and began to pile up an impossible lead; more yards were lost when Schieren slipped in handing the baton to Mike Sherman. Sherman managed to pick up some ground against Exeter's Griffith, but his efforts were to no avail against such a lead. Co-captain and anchor man Paul Armstrong drew cheers from the crowd as he cut down Exeter's lead winning margin by ten yards, but Andover could not approach the winning time of 3:36.3. The night was not a total loss for the squad, for they had a chance to talk with and pick up some advice from the famous Villanova stars Ron Delany and Charlie Jenkins.

On February 8, the team travelled to New Haven where they suffered defeat at the hands of the perennially strong Yale Freshmen. Despite the losses of their teammates, the members of the Andover thousand completely ignored the Yale jinx and went on to their third straight sweep of that event. With a time of 2:29, Steve Hobson beat Tony Rhinelander to become Andover's first man on the thousand squad. John Charlton, who was thus far undefeated, did a fine job to salvage a second in the mile with a time of 4:47. Andover's weight man Ted Baily managed to make it three straight in his specialty with a toss of 59 feet.

WRESTLING

In it's first match of the season the Andover wrestling team displayed mid-season form in trouncing Hope High School, 41-5.

Lower prep Bob Hess started things off for Andover by pinning his opponent early in the third period. Hess's tricky style and large number of holds makes him a very difficult opponent. Dave Ross, one of five returning lettermen, quickly added five points to Hess's total by pinning his opponent in the first period. Bob Posner then gained a 4-1 point victory in the closest match of the day. Paul Fine then proceeded to pin his opponent after only one minute of the first period had elapsed.

In the 137 pound class, Mike Bittel won by a fall halfway through the match.

Wrestling at 147 pounds, Gil Douglas pinned his opponent with just two minutes remaining in the match. Dick Shirley then followed Douglas's example by posting a 7-1 point victory.

Sam Friedman, replacing injured Art Mann, fought well for two periods, but due to a lack of experience he was pinned by his opponent. Rog Ahlbrandt, wrestling in Friedman's class then pinned his opponent early in the first period.

Heavyweight Mac Rotan then climaxed the successful afternoon, winning by a fall, forty-one seconds after the start of the match.

In the second match of the season, the Luxmen bowed to a strong M.I.T. Freshman squad, 23-15. Highlights of the match for Andover were pins by Paul Fine, Dick Shirley, and Art Mann.

Mickey Simmons was the first wrestler for the Blue, and due to inexperience he was pinned early in the match. In the second contest Bob Posner was also defeated by a strong opponent.

Paul Fine got the ball rolling for Andover by pinning his opponent in the third period.

Mike Bittel then suffered his first defeat of the season when he was pinned in the first period. However, Dick Shirley put Andover only three points behind by virtue of a pin. Art Mann then put Andover ahead when he also pinned his man. Spirit was very high at this point. Lower Ned Evans then did a brilliant job for the Blue, but after two periods he developed a profuse nosebleed and had to retire from the match. In the final and decisive match, Mac Rotan was pinned by an opponent who outweighed him by twenty-five pounds.

Bouncing back after a defeat by M.I.T., the Lux matmen trounced Milton Academy, 51-23.

Bob Hess pinned his opponent in the first period to give us an early lead. However, Dave Ross was pinned in the second period, and that wiped out our lead. Bob Posner then made the score 16-11 by pinning his opponent in the first period. Paul Fine then lost a 2-0 decision to a Milton boy who placed third in last year's interscholastics. Jim Marks then tied his opponent, but Gil Douglas notched up another victory for Andover. Pins by Dick Shirley and Art Mann gave us a 40-21 lead. Dave Fournier then took a 3-1 decision, and Mac Rotan ended the match by pinning his opponent.

In the fourth match of the season, Andover was on the short end of a 35-27 score.

Bob Hess suffered his first defeat of the season after a very close match. Dave Ross was then pinned to give Mt. Pleasant an 11-2 lead. Bob Posner also lost a very close match. Paul Fine was the first to win for Andover, and the score then jumped to 17-7. Mike Bittel then earned five points for the Blue as he easily pinned his opponent. Gil Douglas was then pinned early in the first period, which made the score 25-12 in favor of Mt. Pleasant. Dick Shirley then revived our drooping spirits with an 8-2 decision. Art Mann stayed undefeated by winning his fourth straight match. The score at this point was 27-24 in favor of Mt. Pleasant. In the next few minutes, Mt. Pleasant clinched a victory which left the score at 35-27.

Mr. Lux's matmen displayed several flashes of brilliance this year, and many of the losses can be attributed to injuries. Next year many veterans will be returning, and prospects are very bright.

SKIING

FIRST ROW: Meyers, Makenzie, Nordhaus, Bakewell, Norlin, Morse, Fuller. SECOND ROW: Roland, Edgerly, Shinn, Mr. McKee.

Skiing this year took place at Boston Hill, about 4 miles north of Andover, where some enterprising promoters have established a development. The area uses machines to produce artificial snow: water under high pressure is squirted through a hose in an extremely fine spray. The water freezes before it hits the ground, producing snow which is remarkably similar to natural snow. Equipment on the hill includes two rope tows, one for beginners; three slopes, one of which is a short practice slope servicing the beginners tow. Mr. McKee, the coach, got special rates for the skiers and chartered a bus to carry them back and forth from Boston Hill every afternoon.

The Boston Hill development, which was new this year, did not open till January 7th, after the skiers got back from Christmas vacation. Before the vacation, the team concentrated on calisthenics, and cross-country running in order to get in condition.

Mr. Sanborn took charge of the beginners, and taught them the fundamentals of skiing. Mr. Owen and Mr. McKee set up slalom courses on the most difficult slope and the varsity practiced nearly every day on these courses. The intermediate skiers took lessons from Mr. Owen.

The team this year consisted of five seniors: Co-captain Eric Norlin and Charlie Bakewell, Frank Morse, Roger Mackenzie, and cross-country specialist Jim Shinn; two uppers: Bob Myers and Bill Nordhaus; and two lowers: Dave Edgerly and Gary Fuller. The Varsity manager was Dan Rowland.

The first meet of the season was held at Holderness on January 18th. The team had a disastrous day, scoring 330 points to finish last behind Holderness (387 points), Kimball Union (373 points), and Hebron Academy (342 points.)

The following Saturday, the team clobbered St. Paul's by a score of 193.7 to 168.8. Only two events were held, because the meet had been preceded by three days of heavy rains, and neither the jump nor the cross-country course was in usable condition. Bill Nordhaus and Charlie Bakewell took the first two places in the slalom; and Charlie Bakewell, Bill Nordhaus, Eric Norlin and Dave Edgerly swept the first four places in the downhill. Less than a second separated the four skiers.

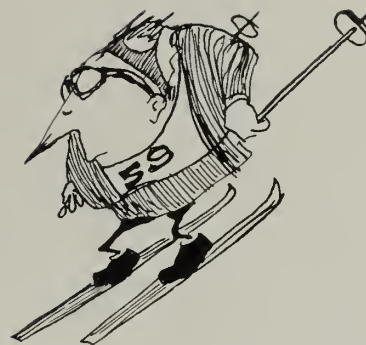

On Sunday, February 2, the team members left at 6:30 A.M. for Dublin. The team scored 268 points to finish third in the meet behind Exeter (292) and Dublin (286). However, Frank Morse and Eric Norlin turned in fine individual performances: Morse took fourth in the jump: quite an accomplishment considering the fact that he had been able to practice only once during the season. Norlin took third in the cross-country event.

The season's most important meet, with Exeter, was held at Boston Hill on February 12. Snow condition's there were the best they had been during the season; the snow machines had run constantly for two days before the meet.

Johnson of Exeter led his team to victory by winning first place in both the downhill and slalom. Johnson's time in the slalom was 75.9 seconds for two runs, bettering the next best time, posted by Andover's Charlie Bakewell, by more than six seconds. The next three places were taken by Exeter skiers, Bill Nordhaus, in sixth position with a time of 85.6, was Andover's next highest finisher. Boy Myers finished eighth, Dave Edgerly tenth, and Rog Mackenzie eleventh. Exeter won the event by a score of 99 to 82.

The co-captain looks 'em over

Andover fared much better in the downhill, losing by two points: 97 to 95. Johnson took first again, with a time of 21.1 seconds. He was followed by his teammate Kemp, in 21.9 seconds. Bill Nordhaus took third in 22.6, and Charlie Bakewell tied Exeter's Austin for fourth. Dave Edgerly, Gary Fuller, and Bob Myers took the next three places; and Frank Morse finished tenth, Eric Norlin Twelfth, and Rog Mackenzie thirteenth.

The J.V. ran only the downhill against Exeter, and lost by the narrow margin of 1 point: 96 to 95. Kennett of Exeter won the event in 23.0 seconds. Andover's Whit Foster and Kit Moore took the next two places in times of 24.8 and 25.1 seconds. Al Chapin and John Huntington of Andover tied for fifth, and Bill Trafton finished eighth.

Although this year's team didn't have an exceptional won-loss record, they laid the groundwork for excellent teams in the future, especially since over half of the team members will return next year.

SQUASH

SITTING: Swearingen, Robertson, Jones (capt.), Gordon, Brown. STANDING: Hoitsma (coach), Salter, McBaine, Henkes, Kiernan (mgr.)

This year the squash team was a greatly improved one than those of the past few seasons. The team, coached for the first time by Mr. Hoitsma, was managed by Dave Kiernan and captained by upper, Kirby Jones. The Squashmen got off to a slow start by losing to the more experienced college teams, Harvard and Yale. The Bluemen were as yet to gain the essential practice needed to win over such stronger teams, and thus lost 5-0 in both cases.

Then followed a string of 5-0 victories for the racquetmen. The first came at the hands of the Brooks School. Strong 3-0 wins were turned in by Kirby Jones, Ralph Swearingen, and Mac Gordon, numbers 2, 4, and 5 respectively. The number one man, Bill Robertson, after winning the first game, dropped the second, but then came back to easily win the remaining two. Lower Bill Brown also turned a 3-1 score. The next match was against St. Pauls. Andover again vanquished their opponents by the score of 5-0, losing only four games during the whole match. Bill Robertson and Ralph Swearingen both gained 3-0 victories while Kirby Jones and Bill Brown won in four games each. The most exciting match was between Gordon of Andover and Roberts of St. Pauls. Roberts easily won the first two games, but then Gordon staged the most thrilling comeback of the whole season. He edged out the third game 18-16, and then coped the fourth 15-7. In the fifth and final game the score ran to 14 all and Gordon bravely elected only one point to decide the match, and won it. The followed a third 5-0 win over Middlesex.

But the following week the tables were turned. The Blue racquetmen meeting a superior Deerfield squad lost 5-0. Robertson lost to Hetherington, a younger but steadier player. Jones played Phipps, a stalwart of the Green tennis team, and a far craftier squash player.

The team this year, for the most part was made up of the English Exchange Student, Bill Robertson, at the number one slot. Squash, though, was not entirely new to Bill as he had played Squash Racquets, a variation, in England. At number two was captain, Kirby Jones, who had played at that same position a year before. Number three was occupied by Ralph Swearingen, who had played J.V. the previous year, and had advanced from number five to number three. Holding down the fourth position was lower, Bill Brown, who promises to develop into a very polished squash player by his senior year. At five was Mac Gordon, and experienced returning letter-man from last year. Thus, under the capable guidance of Mr. Hoitsma, the '57 season was very successful and promises to be better in '58 with three returning letter-men.

BOXING

Under the excellent and patient supervision of Mr. Mikula, the boxing squad made itself an even more permanent position in the Andover athletic program. More than thirty boys gained a sound knowledge of the fundamentals of good ringwork. Outstanding in the ring were Captain Bill Jenkins, Tom Alexander, Phil Nuttle, and Junior Tony Accetta.

Two matches with St. Pauls took place, although they were not scored. It was fairly evident, however, that most of the Andover men placed their punches more carefully and confidently than the Paulies. Nuttle, Jenkins, and Alexander went right to work and quickly overcame their opponents.

The reason there were no numerical scores of the matches was that since boxing at the Prep school level is still in the experimental stage, and it is considered more important to match two opponents as equally as possible than to see who can overcome his ring partner as badly as possible. Therefore most of the matches are quite equal, and it is only a matter of who can out-think his opponent and use his skills to better advantage that determines the winner.

The prime concern of the boxing program is safety. Not only in matches, but also in daily practice are many safety precautions taken. All boxers must at all times wear headgear and use sixteen ounce gloves instead of the customary seven ounce size. No sparring may take place in the ring unless it is under the supervision of Mr. Mikula.

Perhaps one of the most important accomplishments of the year has been to develop enough spirit and to get enough boys sufficiently interested in boxing to take it as a sport. This is where Bill Jenkins has done a wonderful job. Carrying over the fine job Rube Perrin did last year, Bill got more boys than ever before to box, and this in turn starts a chain reaction. Next year undoubtedly more boys will box, and it will soon become a major sport. Prep schools other than St. Pauls are now introducing a boxing program, and prospects are high for a third Andover match next year.

VARSITY BASEBALL

The varsity baseball team, both because of hard luck and a tough schedule, finished the season with a 4-7 won-lost record and a disappointing 6-5 loss to Exeter.

The season began with Alexander "Bumstead" Browne behind the plate, captain Manch Wheeler at first base, Whit Smyth and Jay Nelson alternating at second, Jack Whitehouse at shortstop, Dexter Morse at third base, and Mike "Tank" Sherman, Dave Adzigian, John Wing, Frank Kemp, and Hank Higdon competing for the outfield posts. John Murphy and Steve Mochary were the starting pitchers, with Jim Turchik and Tony Rogers rounding out the pitching staff. Rusty McClanahan and Tom Behan were reserve catchers. However, Webb Harrison showed such skill at first that Manch Wheeler moved to the outfield and Harrison took over the first base slot.

The team's lack of practice didn't hamper them in the first contest of the season, a 4-2 victory over the Tufts Freshmen. Whit Smyth's double sparked a four-run rally in the ninth inning.

Next, the team edged Newton High School by a score of 4-3. John Murphy and Steve Mochary, who relieved him in the seventh, held Newton to 8 hits. Jack Whitehouse tripled home Bumstead Browne in the first inning, and Mike Sherman accounted for the other three runs - driving in two with a fifth-inning single, and scoring another in the seventh on a single and alert base-running.

The Harvard Freshmen outclassed the Blue by a score of 9-2. Harvard scored several runs in the first inning on a triple, two walks, two steals, and a single. Jim Turchik relieved Steve Mochary in the seventh, and held Harvard to 2 runs in his three-inning stint.

Steve Mochary pitched almost perfect ball for the first five innings of the Holy Cross game, but lost his stuff in the sixth inning. Holy Cross scored eight runs before Jim Turchik relieved Mochary in the seventh inning. Turchik gave up four more runs in his two inning stint. Clutch hits by Manch Wheeler and Jack Whitehouse scored five runs and the game ended 12-5 in favor of Holy Cross.

A ninth inning rally fell short and the Brown freshmen handed Andover its third straight defeat, 11-9. Again Steve Mochary pitched very well in the early innings but was hard hit later in the game. Mochary was relieved by Jim Turchik in the sixth inning and John Murphy in the seventh. The ninth inning rally was sparked by Dave McClanahan's single and Dave Adzigian's three run double. The rally was snuffed out when Adzigian was thrown out at third while trying to stretch his double into a triple.

John Murphy struck out twelve batters to lead Andover to a 16-3 conquest of M.I.T. The leading hitters of the game were Jack Whitehouse and Webb Harrison. Jay Nelson made the outstanding field play of the game when he leapt high in the air to snag a line drive and cut short an M.I.T. rally.

The Blue beat Deerfield 6-2 behind the steady pitching of Steve Mochary who struck out seven batters. The team scored several runs by its alert base running.

Another loss came at the hands of the New Hampshire Freshmen, 5-2, in a tense eleven inning game. Dex Morse tallied in the first, and Hank Higdon singled in the seventh and stole second base. Higdon scored when the first baseman and right fielder collided while trying to catch Dex Morse's pop-up. In the eleventh, John Murphy, who had relieved starter Steve Mochary in the ninth, gave up three more runs.

Next P.A. came close to beating the Dartmouth Freshmen behind the excellent pitching of John Murphy who struck out thirteen. Dartmouth scored an unearned run in the bottom of the first. In the second Dave Adzigian hit the first of his two doubles, and came home on a series of errors. Dartmouth scored the winning run in the eighth, when a pinch hitter for pitcher O'Neill went to first on an error and scored on two hard-hit infield grounders. The final score was 2-1.

The Cushing game was played in the rain on a muddy field. Cushing

2nd Row: Winebrenner (Manager), Turchik, Higdon, McClanahan, Behan, Harrison, Sherman, Brown, Wilkie (Coach)

finally won by a score of 9-5.

The Exeter game proved to be a disappointing end to the season. The absence of catcher Bumstead Browne, whose hand had been injured by a foul tip in the Cushing game, was the big difference in a close 6-5 loss. Exeter scored four runs in the fifth inning and two more in the seventh. The Blues scored three runs in the eighth and two more in the ninth on clutch hits by Manch Wheeler, Jack Whitehouse and Dave Adzigian, but couldn't quite even the gap. John Murphy started the game, but was relieved by Steve Mochary in the fifth.

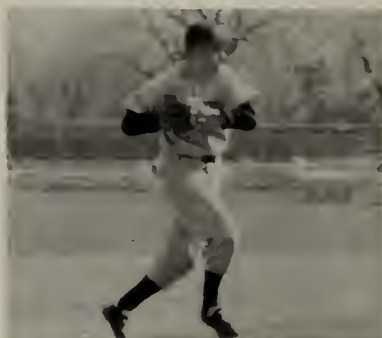

At a meeting after the Exeter game, Bumstead Browne was elected Captain succeeding Manch Wheeler, and Ted White was elected Manager to succeed Dave Winebrenner.

With a host of returning veterans, prospects for the Lacrosse team were very bright. Many students predicted that this team would even better the record of last year's excellent team. The defense starred Tom Gildehaus, Captain Mac Rotan, Charlie Bakewell, and Roger Ahlbrandt. Pat Gorman, Ed Perell, Artie Rogers, Gil Bamford, and Blitz Fox led the experienced midfield, and the attack boasted Caddy Brooks, Louis Van Amerongen, Mike Golden, John Linfoot, and Steve Ledyard.

Andover opened the season against a comparatively weak Tufts freshman squad. From the opening moments the results was obvious, as Andover completely outplayed the freshmen. The final score was 18-3.

Against a team composed mainly of All-Americans, Andover lost its first game of the season to the Boston Lacrosse Club. The Blue played an excellent first-half, holding their opponents to two goals. However, in the second-half, the Lax Club got organized and went on to score ten goals, making the final score 12-1. Pat Gorman scored the lone Andover goal.

Captain Mac

Although the score was only 8-3, Andover completely outplayed Governor Dummer in obtaining its second win of the season. A large number of penalties kept Andover's score down to eight points.

Blue on the attack

Andover's sixth and seventh lacrosse victories of the season came against the University of New Hampshire freshman and Tabor Academy. The U of N.H. lost 8-0, and Tabor 10-8. Tabor fielded a very strong team, and it was not until the second overtime that the Blue could "put the game on ice." Caddy Brooks starred in this game by scoring five goals.

Andover then overcame the always-rough Mt. Hermon by 8-4, after having played a very sloppy first-half.

field graduates, Andover registered its third triumph of the season by a score of 15-2.

M.I.T. also fielded a weak freshman team and never stood a chance as the Andover laxmen piled up a big lead in the opening minutes of the game. The score was 11-3.

Played in a pouring rain and away from home, the game against Deerfield was lost by the close score of 6-4. Andover's offense never really got moving in the whole game, and Deerfield's pressing attack was just too much for the laxmen.

freshman 17-7. This win was followed by a 14-9 victory over St. Paul's.

In the last game of the season, against Exeter, Andover suffered a very disappointing defeat. The final score was 8-6, and the game was very well-played by both teams. Andover seemed to lack that driving force that it displayed throughout the season against its tougher opponents.

Great credit is due for the success of this year's team to Mr. Hulburt, the coach, and to Jerry Poinier, the manager.

TRACK

Under the expert coaching of Mr. Stephan Sorota, the Varsity Track team managed to wind up the season with a record of three wins, three losses, and a fifth place in the New England Interscholastic Prep School meet. The record would have been better if Captain Bobby Hull had been able to compete after the first meet, when he pulled a back muscle at the finish of the 100 yd. dash (he won), and he wasn't able to run again until the Exeter meet, when his back again gave out, preventing him from winning his event.

The first meet of the season with the Harvard Frosh was cancelled twice because of rain, and it was never run off. In their first competition against the Northeastern Frosh, the Blue team scored a resounding victory, taking the meet 94-26. Ed Rice, and Ted Bailey who set a new school record for the 16 pounder, won the hammer. Bruce McCollom, Dick Ellegood, and Paul Kelly swept the javelin, while Ted Bailey, Ronnie Hines, and Ed Rice did the same in the Discus. In the running events, Bobby Hull, Don Campbell, and Paul Armstrong took the 100. All in all, the Blue only failed to get firsts in two events.

The next meet—with Dartmouth—ended in defeat for the Blue, 87-29, with the Dartmouth Frosh taking firsts in all but two events. As usual, we swept the hammer, even though Ted Bailev was absent, with Ed Rice, Drayton Heard, and Tim Standish taking the honors. In the mile, Tony Accetta did his best time of the season, taking first in 4:46.2. The 880 provided a little excitement in an otherwise depressing meet, with Carl Schieren and Steve Hobson coming in third with identical times, though Carl was awarded third place.

In a triangular meet between the University of New Hampshire Frosh, the M.I.T. Frosh, and Andover, the Blue team was beaten by U. N. H., 70 - 57½, while M. I. T. was defeated by Andover, receiving only 32½ points in the meet. In spite of the miserable, rainy weather, Ted Bailey took firsts in both the Hammer and in the Discus. Tony Accetta overcame very stiff competition in the mile and placed third. Ronnie Hines and Don Campbell took first and second in the 100 yd. dash for the Blue.

Victory was the word at the Tufts meet, as the Blue came out on top 92 - 34, sweeping seven events. Andover took the first two events, the hammer and the high hurdles, Ed Rice and Paul Kelly taking the number one spots respectively. Dick Ellegood placed second in the javelin with a distance of 150' 1", thus making him the first member of the team to officially throw over 150' this spring. In the high jump, Bill Bell, Mishell Stucki, and Wade Ellis all tied for first with the bar at 5' 4". Tex Charlton and Tony Accetta came in just behind one of the Tufts men, taking second and third places respectively. Al Albright won the broadjump with a distance of 20' 4½".

The Blue didn't show very well in the Interscholastics as they took fifth place with about half as many points as first place Exeter, who had a record of twenty-two straight wins, which was increased to twenty-three after the Andover-Exeter meet the following week, which Exeter won 77-39. The meet was by no means as great a loss for the Blue as the Interscholastics, as several of Andover's men put on fine performances; Tex Charlton, Ronnie Hines, and Ed Rice did remarkably well, although they only came in second in their events, while Paul Armstrong, Steve Hobson, and Paul Kelly each took firsts in their events. Both the 440, in which Paul Armstrong beat out the Exeter second place by a few inches, and the 880, with Hobson and Schieren taking first and second, were the highlights of the meet.

VARSITY TENNIS

The varsity tennis team opened the season with a match with Deerfield on the opponent's courts. Mark Woodbury beat Phipps of the Green in a long, hard match. Laurie Chickering and Whit Foster both won their singles matches, but Saxton, Jones, and Gordon dropped their three to tie the score. The Deerfield team then took all three doubles and won the match 6-3. Though Andover lost the opener, this match showed that the team had a lot of ability that would be of value later on.

The second contest of the season was with the Brown Freshmen at Andover. The Blue won an easy victory, 7-2. Next, the powerful Harvard Freshmen played host to Andover at Cambridge. Andover went down in defeat to the opposing team with a score of 1-8. The Blue's only point was won in the doubles by Woodbury and Chickering, who beat Nye and Le-mann of the Crimson. The fourth contest for the Andover Tennis Team was with Milton Academy at the opponent's courts. Woodbury, Chickering, and Forsythe all won their singles matches. Andover's other three players, Jones, Gordon, and Saxton, lost their matches. The Blue won two of the three doubles to win the match by the score 5-4. The Dartmouth Freshmen next came to Andover for the hardest match of the season. Chickering, Jones, and Forsythe won their singles matches while Woodbury, Saxton, and Gordon lost theirs. The Blue lost the first two doubles and won the last to make the final score 4-5, Dartmouth's victory.

The Exeter match had to be played in the Exeter cage because of rain. The match started with Woodbury going down in defeat to Chris Holm, a Swedish junior tennis champion. Laurie Chickering won his match with Hepting, but Saxton, Gordon, and Forsythe lost their singles. Kirby Jones won his match to make it two points for Andover. The first doubles, with Woodbury and Chickering for the Blue against Holm and Hepting, ran into three sets, but Exeter finally won 5-7, 6-3, 8-6. Andover's Gordon and Forsythe lost their doubles, also. Nick Saxton and Kirby Jones won one set in the third doubles, and since by this time it was 8:30, the last match was split, giving each team one half of a point. The final score was Andover  $2\frac{1}{2}$ , Exeter  $6\frac{1}{2}$ .

Andover's 1958 tennis team was strong and well-balanced despite it's 2-4 record. The team is going to compete in the Eastern Preparatory Scholastic Tennis Tournament at the Manersing Club in Rye, New York this summer and is expected to be ranking high when the scores have been added up. Mark Woodbury was captain with Laurie Chickering, senior, MacGordon, senior, Kirby Jones, upper, Nick Saxton, lower, and Carl Forsythe, lower, making up the team. Next year's captain is Kirby Jones.

CREW

Burns (Manager), Salter, Westerlund, Cloyd (Captain), Hammond, Clymer, Lodge, Meehan, Dexter, Toll, Bissell, Rowland.

In only its fourth season at Andover, Crew got off to a promising start with the members of the first two boats returning three to four days early to be in top shape for their first race. This year the Crew had a new boathouse with space for a dozen shells, built much farther upstream than the old one, which was dangerously near the Lawrence dam. During the season an eight man shell and a four were obtained from Annapolis. The eight became the varsity boat and the four was used when a full eight crew couldn't be gathered.

In the first boat Captain Marsh Cloyd rowed bow, Frank Hammond two, Jack Clymer three, Bob Meehan four, Dave Dexter five, Maynard Toll six, Monty Bissell seven, Dan Rowland stroke, and Dave Lodge was the cox. In the second boat Jim Minard rowed bow, Mal Salter two, Bob Powers three, Einar Westerlund four, Bill Sanford five, Renny Maier six, Dave Gaskin seven, Sam Back stroke, and Pat Cary-Barnard was cox.

In its first race of the season, with Springfield Technical School, the varsity proved itself to be a well coordinated, powerful boat. On an ideal day on the Merrimac, the Crew defeated Springfield by about five lengths in the Henley, a mile and five sixteenths race, turning in a creditable time of 6:02.5 minutes.

Again on the Merrimac, the varsity defeated the M.I.T. Freshman Seconds. Andover's start was rather slow, and if it hadn't been for the fast stroke at the finish, M.I.T. would have won, as the Brownmen were victorious by only about twenty feet. The excellent time turned in by P. A. was 5:40.7 minutes.

The next race was at Kent, in Kent, Conn., which is to crew as Williston is to Swimming. At the start of the mile race Andover gained a short lead on Kent, but was unable to hold it due to the high, sloppy stroke. Even though, after the half mile mark, Andover could not gain on Kent despite a series of power strokes, neither could the Interscholastic champions lengthen their lead on the Blue oarsmen. Thus the beautifully co-ordinated Kent crew streaked over the finish line a length ahead of P.A., turning in a time of 4:44 minutes for the mile.

At Yale, the varsity out-rowed the second heavies of the Yale frosh. In a steady drizzle neither boat was comfortably ahead of the other until And-over stepped up its stroke, winning by about half a length.

On the Merrimac, after the two away races, the Crew lost to the first freshman lightweights of Harvard. The freshmen gained the lead at the very start and the Blue couldn't get ahead of the undefeated lightweights regardless of sets of power strokes and raising the stroke.

On the St. Pauls course, the And-over eight out-rowed the St. Paul crew throughout the whole race. Gaining an early lead with a powerful start the Blue stayed ahead using power strokes to win by a length and a half.

On Parents' Weekend the powerful Blue raced Tabor on the P. A. home course. Although the two crews were deadlocked in the first stretch, the P. A. boat pulled out with a set of power strokes and was able to keep its lead from the challenging Tabor eight, to win by about a half a length.

Thus with a record of five wins and two losses, the oarsmen traveled to Worcester for the Interscholastics with hopes of revenge on Kent. At the start, the Blue boat was smooth, but lacked power and was last off. At the quarter mile Andover had used power strokes, but was still in sixth place out of seven.

At the half mile P. A. had moved up one more place. At the three quarter mile mark Andover had pulled up two more boats, but wasn't seriously challenging the first place Kent or the second and third place Tabor and St. Pauls. However, only three sixteenths of a mile from the finish, P. A. upped its stroke and passed the second and third place shells and closed on Kent. However, Kent also upped its stroke and managed to keep ahead of P. A. as they crossed the finish line.

For such a young sport the Crew turned in a good record of five wins, two losses, and a second at the Interscholastics. And it seems that the practice of having better crews as the sport grows older will continue with a few returning J. V. and Varsity men and strong third and fourth boats ready to take over next year.

GOLF

2nd Row: Nilson, Hawes (Coach), Sullivan
1st Row: Payne, Sawyer, Barry, Brown

The 1958 golf team showed great potential at the beginning of the season with seven returning squad members. Captain Jon Porter and Coach Hawes, along with Assistant Coach McKee, looked forward to a successful season.

The opening match was against a strong Yale Frosh team which downed the Blue 7-0, although Mike Barry shot a 78. The match was played at Yale in sunny and windy weather and the course was wet from recent rains.

The next match was the beginning of a Round Robin tournament between Andover, Governor Dummer and Exeter. Governor Dummer took the lead with a combined team total of 488 strokes. Exeter was ahead of Andover by one stroke, 498-499. The second round of the tournament saw Andover take second place over Exeter, while Governor Dummer stayed in front with a 20 stroke handicap. In the final match of the tournament, Governor Dummer took first place with 1543 strokes. Andover was second and Exeter third with strokes of 1560 and 1565 respectively. Governor Dummer had a combined handicap of 60 strokes, however.

It seemed that the Blue couldn't get moving as both Harvard and Dartmouth rolled over the team by substantial margins of 7-2 and 6½-2½. Finally the Blue snapped back by defeating St. Paul's 9-0. It was a perfect day all around as everybody on the team won. Newton High put an end to the winning column by downing P. A. 7½-1½.

The Exeter match was perhaps the best match of the season, as next year's Captain Sawyer, Sullivan, and Barry each won their matches. Giles Payne saved the day as he won a sudden death playoff on the 19th hole to give Andover the 5-4 victory. Incidentally, Mike Barry won the '58 Faculty cup with an 83.

FEATURES

CAROUSEL

Carousel was presented on Saturday, April 19, by the combined choruses of Bradford Junior College and Phillips Academy, who produced a brilliant show which was warmly received by a capacity audience in George Washington Hall.

Playing the lead of Billy Bigelow, a tough carousel barker, Ed Shapiro did an excellent job. He was especially moving in the "Soliloquy", a solo expressing his ambitions for his unborn child. As Julie Jordan, the quiet mill girl who married Billy, Lyn Behrens was as capable as Ed. Although she did not sing as much as Billy, she more than made up for it with her fine acting. She and Billy were particularly good in the "If I Loved You" sequence, and Miss Behrens was extremely moving in Billy's death scene.

Providing the light touch were Caroline Adams as Carrie Pippertidge, and John Leonard as her "intended". Enoch Snow, a smelly, but upright fisherman. Miss Adams captivated the audience with her lovely voice and superb acting, especially in her solo "When I Marry Mr. Snow". When Mr. Snow added his tenor, the result, "When The Children Are Asleep", was so good that the audience demanded an encore and then gave lengthy applause.

Anne Dickson gave a good portrayal of Nettie Fowler, Julie's understanding cousin. Michael Fitzgibbon, as the villain, enthralled the audience with his chanigng moods, especially teaching Carrie "self-defense" in a hilarious scene, and then, in a hold-up, trying to kill Mr. Bascombe, the wealthy mill owner. Nathalie Wendell was good as Mrs. Mullin, the owner of the carousel.

The dancers can only be described as amazing. Cynthia Moore gave a professional performance in her solo dance as Billy's daughter, Louise, with Pete Perez giving her an outstanding assist. Pete Pochna highlighted the "Hornpipe", doing an enjoyable duet with Mary Madden. Anne Bowden led the well rehearsed girl's troupe in a light number called "June Dance".

Julian Minard played the Heavenly Friend well, and Henry Munn was entertaining in his dual role as the Starkeeper and the country doctor. The children who danced in the beach scene and those who played Mr. Snow's children added much liveliness to the show.

The onstage chorus provided a colorful and harmonic background for the main action. They proved their excellence in such numbers as "June Is Bustin' Out All Over", "This Was A Real Nice Clambake" and "Blow High, Blow Low".

The highest praise should go to Mr. Schneider, Mr. Owen, and Mr. and Mrs. Wickstrom of Bradford. Mr. Schneider spent many hours rehearsing the excellent orchestra, and then succeeded in co-ordinating the on-stage and the off-stage choruses and the orchestra into a performing unit. Mr. Owen was the patient and versatile dramatic director, Mr. Wickstrom was the Bradford chorus director, and Mrs. Wickstrom was the choreographer. The stage crew, headed by Mr. Leavitt and Ned Irish, also deserves commendation for its fine work.

SPRING PROM

Most of the graduating class of '58 will in all probability look back on this prom weekend — La Rive Gauche — as being one of the best and most enjoyable social weekends in their P. A. careers. Beautiful weather, decorations, music, and young ladies certainly played a part in determining the great success of this prom. Headed by Demi Gibson, the Prom Committee did a spectacular job of making the '58 spring formal an event that will undoubtedly live in the memories of many P. A. graduates — as well as the underclassmen — for years to come.

On Friday afternoon, May ninth, the girls began to arrive. From 4 till 6, that familiar train of walking couples was seen moving steadily up the Hill, the boys laboring under many pounds of luggage. After a meal at the Commons, the couples proceeded to George Washington Hall, where the Mason-Dixon Five put on a very fine show consisting of some of the all-time favorites in jazz. Then the Drama Workshop took over to present two unique but very enjoyable plays. The couples then directed their steps to the various class parties — the Seniors going to the Addison Gallery, the Uppers to Will Hall, and the Lower to Graham House. It was at the class parties that the weekend began to get in full swing. The "Sour Grapes" rounded out the evening by singing at all of the dances. At twelve, the parties ended and the boys escorted their guests to their dorms, generally not by the most direct route.

Saturday was a beautiful day as far as the weather and campus were concerned. Tennis, swimming, softball, volleyball, and strolls through the sanctuary occupied the morning.

At noon, the Seniors held their Log Cabin picnic, which was considered by most as being very enjoyable. Here the "Aces" performed for the sun-basking and frisby-playing couples. In the afternoon, the guests had an opportunity to see Andover defeat the M.I.T.—Frosh in baseball.

The formal dinner and Prom comprised the climax of a wonderful weekend. Harry Marshard and his Orchestra supplied the dance music, with the "8-n-1" filling in during the intermission with a very enjoyable presentation of their better numbers.
